STUNNING VICTORY FOR U. S. REVEALED

U. S. Aircraft Carrier Lexington Exploded Several Hours After Battle

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH U. S. PACIFIC FLEET AT SEA—(Delayed)—With American air and sea forces dominating the action, the great eight-day battle of the Coral Sea has ended in a complete rout for the Japanese whose staggering losses totalled 20 ships, including one aircraft carrier sunk two badly damaged, three light cruisers, three destroyers and three big transports sunk, and literally thousands of men, and scores of planes destroyed.

The stunning victory scored by the combined American, British and Australian force definitely has thwarted the enemy in his attempt to gain control of the New Guinea-Solomon area and has materially lessened the threat of invasion of Australia in the opinion of officers who waged the remarkable fight against the powerful Jap striking force.

Lost to the enemy, however, was

Four Major Powers United In Pledge For Long Cooperation

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The four major powers of the United Nations today are united in a solemn pledge to cooperate together in winning the war and the peace that follows.

Soviet Russia has joined Great Britain and China in signing a mutual aid and economic pact with the United States.

Under the terms of the pact, the Soviets agree to accept American liberal trade principles as the basis for a post war international economic system.

They agree to the postwar "elimination of all forms of discriminatory treatment in international commerce, and to the reduction of tariffs and other trade barriers." They also pledged cooperation in joint measures for "the extension of production, employment, and the exchange and consumption of goods."

Under Lease-Lend Law

The pact with Russia was concluded under the provisions of the lend-lease act. In return for the Soviet's acceptance of the American

Eight Nurses Rescued From Corregidor By Navy Planes Reach U. S.

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Back from the horror of war in the Philippines, eight American army nurses—heroines who quietly suffered bomb, shot, shell, malaria and semi-starvation beside the battling men of Bataan and Corregidor—went feminine again today in a shopping spree through San Francisco stores.

The veterans, rescued by navy airplanes from Corregidor a few days before the island fortress fell to the Japanese, include:

Second Lieutenant Dorothea Daley, Hamilton, Mo.; Second Lieut. Eunice Hatchett, Lockhart, Tex., and Second Lieut. Mary Lohr, Johnstown, Pa.

Show Strain of Ordeal

Reluctant to speak of the world's record of nursing service they helped create under primitive conditions, but showing the strain of their terrific ordeal, the nurses had one thought in common. It was expressed by Miss Hatchett.

"It was more than flesh and blood could stand," she said — "even American flesh and blood. It doesn't seem possible. We prayed every day for the convoy we hoped was just over the horizon coming to relieve our boys."

These girls not only experienced the horrors of war, but saw civi-

Police Examine Youth Who Admits Slaying Step-Father Yesterday

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., June 12.—A 16-year-old poem-reading youth, who calmly shot his stepfather to death in an Ohio State University classroom, underwent examination by psychiatrists today after confessing he fired the fatal shot "in a daze."

"I was like a person in a room with four doors and I had to use one of the doors to escape," Steadman Thompson told police while hugging a thick leather-bound copy of Byron's poems.

The stepfather Dr. Charles R. Owens, 37, was slain as he sat alone in a chemistry laboratory shortly after noon yesterday. Coroner Edward E. Smith said the youth admitted finding an old revolver in the attic of his home and, after putting it in working condition, journeyed to the university campus to slay his step-father.

"Nobody liked me...Everybody mistreated me...I didn't have any friends," the 208-pound youth told the coroner. "Everything is in kind of a fog now. I don't remember much about how it happened. I thought about killing him. I thought about doing it Tuesday and I've had dreams about doing it, too."

Young Thompson was found wandering near the chemistry building, unconcerned, shortly after the slaying.

To the coroner and arresting officers, the youth related when questioned, a stream of invective against Dr. Owens, calling him "a rat who was alienating my mother's affection."

Second Front Plan Enthuses Great Britain

Clamor For Early Blow Against Axis May Be Satisfied Soon

MILITARY PLANS ARE KEPT SECRET

Twenty-Year Agreement On Mutual Aid Secondary To War Move Is Sentiment

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 12.—The opening of a second front in Europe against Germany some time this year was uppermost in the minds of Britons today following revelation that an understanding had been reached between Washington, London and Moscow.

Although for military reasons there was absolutely no hint of the planned action by the three great United Nations powers, the announcement came as a great source of satisfaction to those who had been clamoring for an early new blow against the Axis.

Overshadows London Agreement

In many quarters the disclosure that an agreement had been reached on the second front issue overshadowed in importance the fact that during Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslev Molotov's secret visit to London a 20-year mutual assistance pact was signed between Britain and Russia.

Even the London newspapers made banner lines of the news that Molotov had journeyed incognito to Washington after his talks in Brit-

Gains Are Reported By Red Troops In Kalinin Front Engagements

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, June 12.—Rampaging Nazi armies hammered persistently today at the Soviet naval base of Sevastopol and scored some advances in their new offensive on the Kharkov front.

Col. Gen. Fritz Von Mannstein was paying a high price in his attempt to knock out the Sevastopol base in the southwestern Crimea, losing 15,000 men in three days of action.

In addition, more than 60 German planes and 50 tanks were destroyed so far this week by the defenders of the Black Sea base.

Soviet military leaders admitted that the armies of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko were fighting defensive actions against advancing German tank and infantry units in the area of Kharkov, capital of the industrially and agriculturally rich Ukraine.

Soviet Forces Gain

Northwest of Moscow on the Kalinin front, however, the Soviet forces were reported to have gained the upper hand in a new engagement with German forces.

Maj. Gen. Tinker Reported Missing

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The War Department announced today that Maj. Gen. Clarence L. Tinker, commanding general of the U. S. air forces in Hawaii, is missing in action as the result of the battle of Midway in the Pacific.

The department declared that it had been advised that Gen. Tinker left Midway Island on June 7, leading a flight of his army bombers to attack a Japanese fleet, and failed to return.

His plane was descending rapidly when last seen by personnel of other aircraft in the same formation. The ocean area in which the plane was last observed was thoroughly searched by airplane and surface craft for several days, the army said, but no trace was found of the missing bomber.

UNABLE TO VERIFY VIVID U-BOAT STORY

(International News Service)

HAVANA, June 12.—Thorough investigation today disclosed no credible substantiation of a dispatch published in the United States asserting that the gun crew of an American merchant sank an Axis submarine in a running gun-fight in Cuban waters.

The report originated with a correspondent in an interior city. He said he heard of the encounter from a friend in a coastal town, who in turn was said to have been told of the incident by an unidentified sailor.

Official circles had no comment.

British Prepare For New Attacks

Expect Rommel's Forces To Strike After Fall Of Bir Hacheim

(International News Service)

CAIRO, June 12—British forces in Libya girded today for an expected early drive by Axis forces to the northeast following the fall of Bir Hacheim, southern anchor of the desert battle front.

German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was believed preparing to strike northward again in an attempt to push back Imperial defense lines running southward from the Mediterranean coast, with El Gazala, the northernmost defense post as the immediate objective.

The fall of Bir Hacheim has relieved Rommel of the immediate threat to his lines of communication from the west and reduced the northsouth British defense line to only about 25 miles. With Bir Hacheim still in their hands the British controlled a 60-mile front from the Mediterranean.

Bir Hacheim was taken by German and Italian forces yesterday after more than a dozen furious assaults against the defenders composed mainly of Free French and African troops.

One Of Midway Heroes Reaches San Francisco; Arrival Real Surprise

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—A modest hero who got his first taste of actual combat by leading the American Flying Fortress squadron that sank two Japanese carriers and blasted other enemy ships in the battle of Midway, was en route to Washington today after his surprise arrival in San Francisco.

He is Lieut. Col. Walter C. Sweeney, Jr., 33, whose unheralded trip from the Pacific war zone amazed family and friends as much as his exploits they still were reading about when he calmly strolled into his San Francisco home.

He was greeted by his father, Maj. Gen. Walter C. Sweeney, recently recalled from retirement to head California's state guard. The general, who himself wears the distinguished service medal awarded for gallantry in the Argonne, did not stand on rank in welcoming his famous son.

"Youve come back quite a hero," the proud general said.

Very embarrassed, Colonel Sweeney replied:

"Aw, take it easy, dad." He smiled at his mother and sister standing by. "I've got to live with these people."

No Personal Credit

The young flier refused to take any personal credit for the smashing victory achieved by his squadron and praised the "great teamwork of all the services, in the air and on the sea".

"Man, how it paid off!" he said fervently.

He deftly parried all attempts to have him relate his personal experiences in the battle of Midway.

"Nobody individually claims anything," Col. Sweeney said. "It was all magnificent team play. It was

WITH U. S. PACIFIC FLEET AT SEA—(Delayed)—Imagine Mr. Moto's embarrassment!

Five Japanese pilots in the Coral sea battle got so mixed up they tried to land on a U. S. carrier believing it to be one of their own!

It was under the graying skies of a south Pacific dusk that the Japs joined a group of American planes in "landing circle" formation awaiting their turn to set down on deck.

The five Jap planes were discovered when they switched on their landing lights and immediately were greeted with a burst of ack ack (anti-aircraft) fire from the carrier. They turned and winged their way into night, but they were far from their own carriers and probably never made it unless they swam.

"So solly, Mr. Moto!"

Silence After Battle Paved Way For Smashing Victory At Midway Island

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The navy today revealed for the first time the details of America's smashing victory over Japanese naval forces in the Coral Sea battle by disclosing a total of at least 35 Nipponese warships and auxiliary vessels sunk and damaged.

Against this terrific damage inflicted on the enemy the United States lost only three naval craft—the giant aircraft carrier Lexington, the Destroyer Sims, and one naval tanker.

Paved Way For Midway

Breaking its long silence on the battle for Australia, the navy pointed out that its secrecy on this score laid the cornersstone for another striking American victory in the recent sea and aerial conflict off Midway island.

While the Coral seat battle actully began on May the 2nd, the navy stated that a preliminary United States attack on Japanese shipping in the New Guinea area also played an important part in the final engagement.

The loss of life in the sinking of the Aircraft Carrier Lexington was estimated at about 150 men, with over 2,000 saved. The nuge carrier,

A little rain does a lot of good to the brussell sprouts and the chard, and it helps the blooms in your garden spot and the green grass out in the yard. But too much rain is like other good things, and don't think I want to complain, but there comes a time when we've had enough, at least for a while, of rain. The corn gets soaked and it seems to melt and the beans get sogged in the ground, the best plan is to mix things up, at least this is what I've found. So let's dry things up for a little time, let the sun come out in the blue, and then we'll hope for another wet spell, the weather is eighty two.

Senators Approve Second Front Move

Sentiment Seems To Favor Project

Leaders Somewhat Puzzled However, On After War Cooperation Ideas

WIN WAR FIRST GENERAL IDEA

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Senatorial students of foreign affairs today were puzzled over the implications of the British-American agreements with Russia on after-the-war cooperation, but generally approved the plans for opening of a second front.

While the White House said that there is satisfactory unity of views on problems of cooperation between the United States and Russia "in safeguarding peace and security to the freedom-loving peoples after the war" this was subordinated to the military phase of discussions by congressional observers.

Sen. Tom Connally (D) Texas, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, placed lesser emphasis on the discussions on post-war work, in endorsing utmost military cooperation with Russia.

"When we shall have won this war, of course, our comradeship in arms will not be forgotten," he said. "We shall not turn on our wartime friends nor shall we embrace our enemies."

Endorse Co-Operation

Senate Repubzlican Leader McNary declined comment, but Sen. Austin, Vermont, assistant leader, endorsed cooperation with Russia both militarily and in future aims.

"I welcome the statement that the question of safeguarding future peace and security was considered, although, of course, I know nothing of the details," he said.

Sen. Van Nuys (D) Ind., member of the foreign relations committee, said the agreement is all right if properly hedged and in good faith.

"But," he added, "these agreements in the past have not amounted to much."

Sen. Shipstead (R) Minn., also a foreign relations committee member, said the extent of the agreement between the United States and Russia is not clear.

Win War First

"I think we had better win the war before we make any agreements," he said. "We were helping France and Finland and now are against them. We can't tell now who is going to be on the other side when this war is over."

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., expressed hope that President Roosevelt would get Russia to declare war on Japan and permit the United States to use bases on Russian territory from which to rain bombs on Japan.

"If Russia would give us the right to use their bases, I feel confident that we could bring Japan to her knees in a comparatively short time," he said. "I am informed that Russia has refused to permit us to use bases or give us information."

While some administration senators have urged that a start be made immediately on post-war planning, including an agreement for collective security, they appeared to think that discussions with Russia on this phase are still in the exploratory stage.

FOUR MAJOR POWERS UNITED IN PLEDGE FOR COOPERATION

economic principles, the United States has promised to continue to supply aid to the Soviet union "in ever increasing amounts."

America also has relieved the Soviet government of its obligation to repay this country in full in cash or goods for more than a billion dollars worth of lend-lease aid already extended to Russia.

In lieu of this obligation, the American government offers to take into consideration in the final settlement intangible benefits, such as Russia's acceptance of American economic principles as well as the reciprocal aid which the Soviets may render America during the conflict.

Reciprocal Aids

The Soviets agree to provide to the United States such reciprocal aid as they are "in a position to supply." This does not, however, commit them to grant the United States the use of air bases in Siberia or otherwise aid this country in the Pacific conflict.

The state department announcement concerning the agreement said that "no matter how great" Russia's reciprocal aid may prove to be "it will be small in comparison with the magnificent contribution of the Soviet Union's armed forces to the defeat of the common enemy."

The statement also described the pact as "an additional link in the chain of solidarity being forged by the United Nations in their two fold tasks of prosecuting the war against aggression to a successful conclusion and of creating a new and better world."

Signing of the Russo-America mutual aid and economic pact, followed quickly in the wake of the White House announcement disclosing the recent visit to Washington of Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov.

This visit, according to the White House announcement, led to a "full understanding" regarding the "urgent task of creating a second front in Europe in 1942." It also led to a "unity of . . . views" between the United States and Russia concerning the fundamental problems of cooperation between them "in safeguarding peace and security to the freedom loving peoples after the war."

Our shameful defeat on the Atlantic coast is the same old story. No unified command or central authority to handle the job.

EIGHT NURSES ARE RESCUED FROM CORREGIDOR

lization put in reverse as they were driven from their excellent base hospitals at Fort Stotsenburg and Sternburg, Manila, to open-air medical camps hacked out of Bataan's jungle.

All of them lost between 15 and 35 pounds in weight and all their personal belongings except wrist watches as they moved from camp to camp, living like frontier women and working like trojans in the crescendo of battle. While tending between 130 and 265 patients a day during a 17-hour working day, they lived in burlap-screened jungle enclosures, their cots on the bare ground.

Shortage of Supplies

They ate fish, rice, water buffalo, mules, monkeys and lizards; fought fifth columnists in the very hospital beds; bathed in the same mountain stream used by thousands of others for bathing, laundering and drinking.

"Because of a shortage of supplies, much of our equipment was improvised," Miss Hatchett said. "We baked our surgical instruments in a field oven to sterilize them. We used bed springs covered with blankets for beds. We took the mattresses off the beds and laid them on the ground to increase the capacity of our constantly overflowing hospitals."

Stray bullets, shrapnel and bombings constantly disturbed them. Once the Japanese apologized for a near-miss on a hospital, only to come back a week later and deliberately bomb and strafe it.

"It was horrible," Miss Redmond shuddered. "Bodies, arms, legs and torsos were flung up into the trees."

April 8 they were evacuated to Corregidor from Bataan after narrowly escaping capture in Cabcaben. They drove along the peninsula's bottom road through exploding ammunition dumps, Japanese fire and a silent, retreating army. Food and cigarets were better on Corregidor, they said. But the bombings were worse.

the United Nations base of Tulagi in the Solomon Islands, but it was scorched to the death before it was evacuated and the price paid for it by the Japanese was a dear one in ships, planes and men.

Base Is Attacked

Pearl Harbor, June 12.—The United States Pacific fleet delivered a stunning blow to Japanese bases in the southwest Pacific at the outset of the fierce Coral Sea air and naval engagement which repulsed an attempt by the Japanese to invade Australia and cost the enemy a toll of 21 ships sunk or damaged, it was disclosed today.

In a surprise assault executed by carrier-borne planes on Tulagi harbor on the south side of Florida Island in the Solomons, the hard hitting American airmen reduced the teeming harbor and its ships to a smoking ruin.

Nine Japanese ships were definitely sunk. These included five cruisers, two heavy and three light, and two destroyers and two large troop transports.

Two other ships were listed as possibly sunk and numerous small vessels were also destroyed.

Lexington Blew Up

With U. S. Pacific Fleet At Sea—(Delayed)—Bringing to a close a spectacular career, the United States aircraft carrier Lexington blew up in a shower of explosives, gasoline and fumes in the southwest Pacific after participating in the battle of the Coral Sea in which American forces handed the Japanese one of their most stunning defeats.

This was revealed by reports of officers and crew members of the Lexington which was the flagship of the task forces that participated in the famous Coral Sea engagement.

Through a quirk of fate it was disclosed that the 33,000-ton Lexington was not a direct victim of the Coral Sea battle but caught fire and exploded hours after the crew managed to save the vessel from attacking Japanese forces.

one of the most magnificent exhibitions I have ever seen. All were eager to get over the targets and get a crack at them."

At one point during his interview with newsmen, the colonel's mother, Mrs. Anne Sweeney, called him aside to remind him of a souvenir he had brought home. It was a part of a Jap Zero plane which he produced for his interviewers.

"About how many Zero fighters were around your bomber during the battle, colonel?" one of the newsmen asked.

"It was all too fast to get any idea," Col. Sweeney answered. He thought a moment and then said: "I guess you could say about ten."

Only once during the interview did the colonel's face turn grim. That was when his father recalled that his son's wife and their two children were at Honolulu when the Japanese launched their sneak attack Dec. 7.

Gen. Sweeney related that Jap planes had machine gunned the home of the colonel's wife and that bullets had riddled the mattress of one of the children. The children, happily, had been taken to the home of a friend.

The colonel added grimly, "unfortunately, I was not at Honolulu then, but my squadron was."

SECOND FRONT PLAN ENTHUSES GREAT BRITAIN

ain and arrived at an agreement with President Roosevelt on a second front in 1942.

It was pointed out by the press that the official announcement of the American-Soviet accord carries the implication that shipping difficulties will not be allowed to stand in the way of carrying hostilities to Germany.

Raids To Increase

Informed circles in the British capital stated that it was logical to assume that gigantic air raids on the 1,000-plane scale by combined British and American air forces which are expected to become almost routine in a very short time will constitute a softening up process before the armies of both these countries launch invasion campaigns.

The Germans began to shout immediately that the Anglo-Soviet pact is meaningless.

The Nazis termed it a "suicide pact which will not affect the military situation."

Another taunt was that it "betrays the critical Russian situation."

The invitation to Britain to attempt an invasion was repeated by the Germans who have said boastfully that the British can be thrown back into the sea in less than two weeks.

Molotov Rides Plane

Information was released meanwhile that Molotov arrived secretly at a northern airport on May 20 in a huge Soviet bomber piloted by Russian air aces.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill escorted the Russian official on a visit to London and bombed areas of England before the official conferences began. They also visited a bomber command station where Molotov witnessed operations of the Royal Air Force taking off for an assault on Germany.

During the first few meetings extremely little progress was made in negotiations, it was disclosed. In fact, it was said, the conversations were somewhat "heavy" until Churchill, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Molotov and Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky met somewhere in the country and discussed operational aspects of the war. Thereafter conferences at the prime minister's offices became very cordial.

A noteworthy feature of the 20-year assistance pact is that Britain never before has committed itself to such precise terms for such a lengthy period. In this was seen an indication of the determination of the British to let nothing stand in the way of complete cooperation with Russia in the war against Germany.

MOSCOW CLAIMS NAZIS LOSE 15,000 IN THREE DAYS

smashed Nazi defenses on the outskirts of a large town on the Kalinin front. Furious hand-to-hand fighting was reported in progress in the streets. German losses were said to be heavy.

Although the town was not mentioned by name it was believed possible that it was Rzhev, vital northern railway town.

"Our troops waged fierce defensive engagements in the Kharkov sector against advancing tanks and infantry," the midnight communique of the Soviet high command said.

"Stubborn fighting continues at Sevastopol.

"Over 60 enemy planes and 50 tanks were destroyed since Monday."

The captain ordered the ship abandoned after three men were wounded. The sinking was announced by the navy late yesterday.

Mother may think I'm the same dirty-faced little girl that was making mud pies in the back yard. But I'm not. I'm a fairy princess bathing in style. I start with a brimming tub and BATH SIZE CAMAY. Then I rub this great big cake a couple of times and presto—I'm covered with a lather—millions and millions of lovely bubbles for a real luxury bath.

I have more fun playing with all these sweet smelling Camay bubbles. Some of them tickle my nose, some wash my ears, some scrub my neck . . . and without any hard rubbin' at all I'm spic and span down to the tips of my toes . . . just the way a fairy princess should be.

Mummy said if I want to be a real fairy princess I must have a beautiful complexion. And then she told me about the wonderful Camay Mild-Soap Diet. She says if I'd give my face a thorough beauty cleansing with Camay twice a day, it would help to keep my skin lovely always.

I feel so good—I smell so good—and I betcha I look good, too, after my Camay beauty bath! My, I'm so glad Mummy bought BATH SIZE CAMAY! Daddy and brother like to use it just as much as Mummy and me. Have you ever tried BATH SIZE CAMAY? No? Well, get some today! I know you'll love it!

CAMAY NOW IN TWO SIZES—BATH SIZE AND REGULAR SIZE!

FOOD HABITS OF WORLD

CHANGES in food preferences do not come with changes in climate, as civilians traveling about the world formerly found and as soldiers now serving overseas are discovering. This is reported to be especially apparent in Australia since the advent of the armies from America and the Middle East.

Ordinarily Australia is self-sufficient in food, but the drain on agricultural production for the military forces and the increase in the number of consumers are emphasizing certain points in the food problem. Australia has plenty of sheep, but the American soldier as a rule does not enthuse much over mutton and lamb. Australians like both. Beef and pork in larger proportions will be provided the Americans by getting the Australians to eat less of both and more of mutton.

Already there is something of a shortage of eggs for civilians and a threatened tightening in the potato supply. There are ample supplies of cheese and butter and the condensed milk factories of Australia are working to capacity. The American soldier dotes on dairy products and consumes them in vast quantities.

EXCISE TAXES ARE SALES TAXES

There is something rather confusing in the attitude of those congressmen who are still holding out against a general sales tax while willing and eager to pile more so-called excise taxes on the already long list of these levies.

The apparent inconsistency is increased when it is considered that these excise imposts on scores of articles in common use represent an enormously higher percentage of the price paid by the buyer than anyone has proposed to incorporate in a sales tax.

What is the federal tax on gasoline but a sales tax? Until the other day, at least, fuel for automobiles was not regarded as a luxury, fair game for a penalty tax. More gasoline was used in the aggregate by persons of small or quite moderate means than by the rich and well-to-do. It is not now a luxury so far as price is concerned.

With the addition of state taxes, gasoline is now subject to a much higher proportionate levy than figures now being proposed for a general federal sales tax, and it is planned to double the present federal tax on gasoline.

There now exists a gap of some two billion dollars between the revenues asked by the treasury for carrying on the war and the amount for which the House Ways and Means Committee has provided through new proposed taxes.

In this fiscal year, now drawing to a close, manufacturers' and retail excise taxes will yield more than $800,000,000. This figure is exclusive of the nearly two billion dollars which liquor and tobacco taxes are expected to produce.

The excise taxes, imposed on a broad range of articles, have raised an immense amount of money for the government without causing any appreciable hardship to the people. Congress is now preparing to add to the number and rate of these taxes to bring in $1,300,000,000 more.

But many members still balk at a general sales tax, while planning to impose a lot of additional levies that are taxes on spending and therefore sales taxes in everything but name.

This comment is not affected by the fact that in many instances these excise taxes are levied on luxuries. The distinction between so-called luxuries and necessaries is something difficult to draw, but that there would be a difference in the incidence of many existing taxes and that in the case of articles subject to a general sales tax cannot be ignored.

Congress has always employed the selective process in imposing excise taxes, and while a sales tax might be made so selective as to defeat the revenue-producing object, certain exemptions on low-priced articles could be granted to prevent any undue hardship.

Today even the extended list of excise taxes does not touch numerous articles in the semi-luxury class. They could be brought within the scope of a sales tax.

But there is more to this question of a sales tax than the providing of additional revenue for the government with the least burden on the people. It is generally admitted that those whose wages and salaries have been increased by the war are the heaviest spenders. That is a natural development, but it directly invites dangerous inflation.

It has been argued that a sales tax would contribute to the safeguards against inflation. There is reason to believe that it would supplement instead of conflict with official price controls, and thus help to safeguard the "real" wages of the workers.

Straining at a conservative sales tax, while swallowing more and more excise taxes, doesn't quite make sense in the case of congress. The cost of a sales tax to the people, so fairly distributed, would likely be far less than the rise in the cost of living which it would help to avert.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDREN THRIVE ON AFFECTION

Grandma was right. When the tot was worn and weary and peevish she dropped her work, took him on her lap, rocked him and sang to him and soon was happy. At some other times when he did something he knew he shouldn't, she turned him on his tummy over her knees and smacked him. Usually she was too busy to cuddle him too much or punish him too often.

Many of my readers can remember when they were told to show no affection at all to the child. As one expert put it about 20 years ago, the mother was to pat the youngster on the forehead at night and shake hands with him in the morning. Everywhere parents were warned against showing affection to their children.

Showing True Affection

During more recent years, many experts have been urging mothers to be generous with affection to the baby and young child. In some hospitals now, nurses are instructed to hold the bottle-fed infant while feeding him. It is not just the mother's natural food which makes the average breast-fed baby surer to live and grow up than if he were bottle-fed. His being held so tenderly as he is nursed is undoubtedly a big part of the advantage.

Although physical expression of affection to the child, especially the young child, is desirable, this is merely the beginning of expression of real affection. It is possible, indeed, to shriek angrily at the child in words of endearment or to turn from kissing him to slapping him; also to show hatred to him, and to stir up hatred in him, while caressing him.

Abiding show of real affection is through the voice, expression of the face and more subtle attitudes toward the child—in the ways we act toward what he says and does. We also demonstrate affection much or little as he asks questions, talks, explores, creates and lives hour by hour with us. He can scarcely feel affection from us when we make fun of him or make him feel that what he says or does is unworthy of our deep consideration. We express deep affection as we constantly put ourselves in our imagination in his place so as to see a little as he sees, understand a little as he understands, and feel a little as he feels—when we treat him as a sacred personality.

Treated so, see what riches are carried in the memories of our youth in the air, on land or sea in all parts of the world; and what riches of experience he has right in our presence.

Through love and affection, the child at home finds escape from fears; the child away from home through all his life an abiding source of hope and courage.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My only daughter six years old dawdles over her food. It almost wears me out at every meal to get her to eat.

A. You are foolish. Let her do the eating. Don't say a word about her eating. Manage yourself so you don't even have any feeling at all over the matter. Let her know that her food will disappear at the end of 25 minutes and that she can have no more till the next meal. Be sure to keep your word. You may have a copy of my special bulletin on eating problems by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE "PAPER AGE"

If you are casting about for a good descriptive title for this not altogether comfortable historical epoch, how about "the age of papers?" The day seems to be fast approaching when every adult citizen will spend at least a third of his waking hours preparing some kind of official documents or filling in questionnaires. We are doing it more or less cheerfully, as becomes a people grimly set upon winning the war. But eventually, if the trend continues, so much room will be required for cabinets in which to file the interminable dossiers about everybody and the infinite records about everything that there will be no room left on earth for anything else—including ourselves.

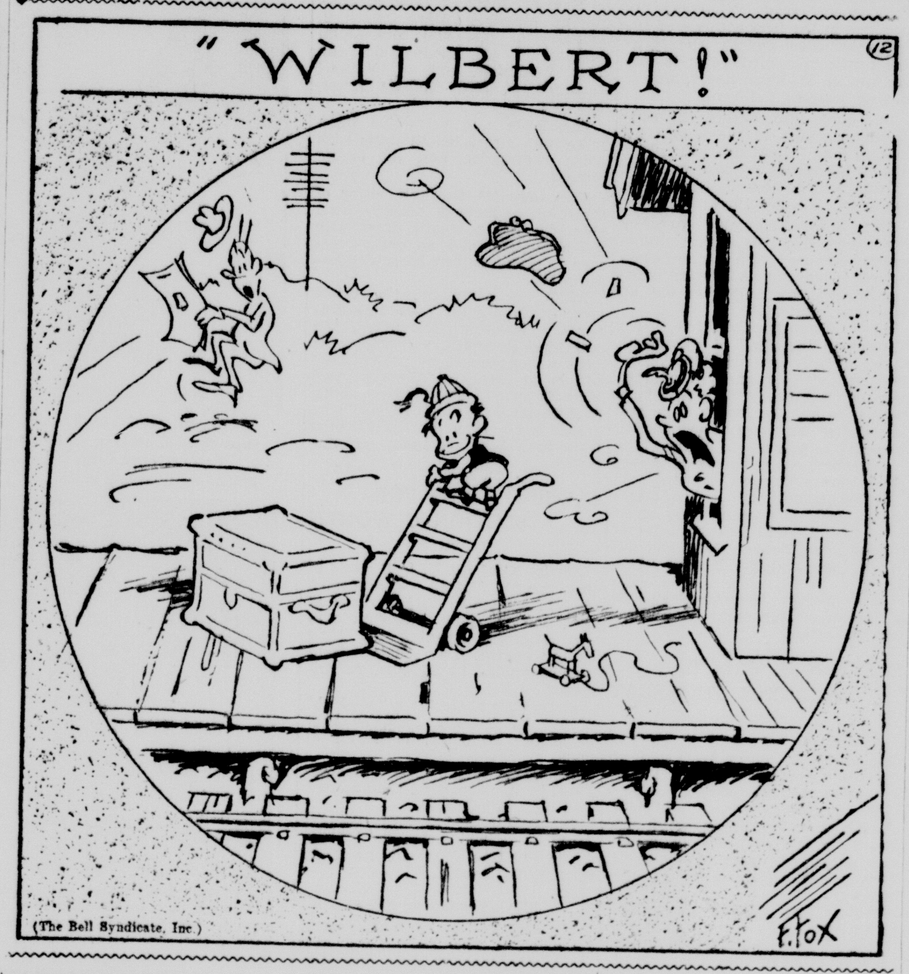

We may thus call this papyrolatry, or the worship of papers, our new religion. We hold our documents in as much veneration as any heathen ever held his idols, or any Christian his saints. With us the brief case is as much the badge of personal piety as the rosary or books of hours with the mediavel Christian or the chaplet or votive wreath with the classical pagans. And just as our forefathers accused themselves of their sins, we confess at prescribed intervals to our names, addresses, phone numbers, ages, heights, weights, complexions, racial origins economic ratings, marital situations, degrees of education and so on.

To facilitate confession everything is as conveniently arranged into categories as were the various venal and mortal sins in the old-fashioned spiritual examen. Yet it all seems to be done with a minimum of grumbling.

Hints On Etiquette

Don't talk other people down. Do your share of the talking, of course, but when others have something to say, be willing to stop and listen. People who talk all the time about themselves, their affairs and feelings, are bores.

BRIDESMAIDS' LUNCHEON

"I am to be married shortly at a church wedding. I feel that I should entertain my attendants at luncheon. When should this be done, now and just who should be included in the party?"—Connie.

Answer: It is customary in some cities for the bride or her mother to give a luncheon a few days before the wedding. The guests should include the bridesmaids, the maid-of-honor, a few other intimate friends, the mother and sisters of the groom and any house guests who may be visiting the bride's home.

Usually, there is a frosted "bride's" cake containing "fortunes" for the bridesmaids. The bride's gifts to her attendants are usually presented at this luncheon.

A few days before the wedding, the bridesmaids and the maid-of-honor sometimes entertain the bride and her mother and any of their friends whom they wish to include. This may be a luncheon, tea or dinner at the home of one of the attendants or at a hotel. A corsage is usually presented then to the bride-to-be If it is preferred, this function may be a shower.

Question: Please tell me: (1) At a dinner-dance should the napkin be placed on the table or the chair when one leaves the table to dance before the completion of the dinner? (2) Is the use of visiting cards proper when sending gifts to personal friends? (3) At a church wedding how does an usher know where to seat guests?—A. M.

Answer: 1) On the table. (2) Yes, but the sender's title and surname are usually crossed out with a pen, leaving only the Christian name when the recipient is an intimate friend. (3) The usher should ask each guest whether she belongs on the bride's or the groom's side and if she is "in the ribbons." He then accordingly leads her to a pew.

COLOR BLIND

Not many men have the courage to tell a joke on themselves but here is one that Jiminy Crickets (who is still our auditor) is telling: coming to work the other morning and mindful of the patriotic "share your car slogan", saw a young lady standing on the corner, pulling over to the curb he offered her a ride down town. Several blocks later he was stopped by a motorcycle policeman who said: "That makes three red lights you've passed....what's the matter with you...are you color blind?"

And, before Jiminy could think of a snappy comeback, his free passenger spoke up, "He sho' 'nuff is, boss. Yah, suh!"

It is said that many people have to stand while riding on trains now.

Lulu—Then I don't want to hear it.

Claribel—Why?

Lulu—Because scandal is something that has to be bad in order to be good.

Chinese farmers have always had fish ponds. We are just learning that an acre of pond will produce more meat than an acre of pasture.

Rubdub—What a loving wife you have. Here you've been married for 15 years and I notice that she still meets you at the door when you come home from work.

Hubbub—Yes, she's afraid I'll forget to wipe my feet before I come in.

Foolish man! He clears the slopes of vegetation; then weeps when flash floods wash out his bottom-land crops.

What's What At A Glance

Real Rationing Will Jolt Housewives
Present Condition Is Drop In Bucket
Many Delicacies Will Be Found Gone

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The food rationing we've experienced thus far hasn't been a circumstance to what it promises to develop into under the committee just set up under Agriculture Secretary Claude R. Wickard's chairmanship, but with War Production Board Chief Donald Nelson doing most of the actual bossing, assisted by the heads of about two dozen other emergency agencies, each making suggestions ad libitum.

There are rows over rubber and gas rationing already, but, after all, folk don't literally go hungry for rubber and gasoline, and they do for food.

Not that I suppose anybody'll be denied a sufficiency to keep him from losing weight. However, most of us have a few favorite dishes that we like a great plenty of, and some of them may be cut down on pretty hard. Illustratively, we're slightly pinched as to sugar now, and my wife, who has quite a sweet tooth, says she doesn't get enough. I give her most of what's coming to me, for my teeth aren't particularly sweet. I have a strong predeliction for tomato juice, though, and what I'm betting is that this new committee will soon be rationing that to such an extent that it'll have to be served to me with a medicine dropper instead of the big pitcherful of it that my appetite craves.

In short, I don't believe that many of us will get all of what he or she especially wants.

International in Scope

The aggravating part of it will be that the rationing won't be exclusively to economize on edibles that we, as Americans, are rather shy on. If we're nationally so short of some sort of chuck that each individual must be contented with a comparatively small plateful of it, or part of us will have to go entirely without, I take it that most of us will be willing to share and share alike with everybody else in the United States. This coming period of rationing, however, is to be on an internatonal scale. That is to say, we and all the rest of the anti-Axis democracies are to be in on it.

Suppose, for example, that we here at home, have ample resources in apple pie, for just as much as there's an appetite for at every table in our own land. But suppose that Britain, Russia and the Chinese are fairly perishing for apple pie. In that event, we'll have to content ourselves with half a slice apiece in order to divide up with these allies of ours.

My guess is that it'll make a Yankee apple pie fiend kinda sore to feel that he's being stinted, not for his own countrymen's benefit, but for the benefit of the British, Russians and Chinese.

It's true, they'll be doing the same thing to supply us with their various specialties, but maybe they'll be specialties that American apple pie eaters aren't interested in.

Getting this system inaugurated was the purpose of the recent visit paid to Washington by London's Production Minister Sir Oliver Lyttleton. He took the subject up with our Production Chairman (we aren't classy enough to have "ministers") Nelson. Sir Oliver described what he was after as "international production integration". Don Nelson was acquiescent and the committee's going.

Theres' military integration also.

Mountbatten's Visit

That's what Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten has been here attending to. He's the British "commando" expert. Until he arrived and explained it, I didn't understand what the term commando meant. Now I know. It's multiplicity—naval activity, submarines, land artillery, infantry, cavalry, viation and everything else of a sort to raise military Hades on Axis fronts. It's a combination of all arms from the zenith on down. And they do say that Hades is what it IS.

Employed against an enemy, you can't kick on a unification of that kind.

Shipping fits into integration likewise—the carrying of men and supplies, I mean.

Diplomacy and propaganda are integrable.

So's industry and so are economics.

But when itegration gets into a matter of international household groceries it seems to me that it starts to get personal. Having American rationing done from Washington?—oh, yeah! But having it done by a committee, jointly representing Uncle Sam, John Bull, Joe Stalin and Chiang Kai-Shek? What'll the American housewife say?

Bible Thought For Today

Isaiah was thinking primarily of Babylon that had enslaved and made captive his people, but brutality and cruelty have seeds of death in them always. It's God's world whether men like it or not: "How art thou fallen from Heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning, how art thou cut down to the ground, which did weaken the nations.—Isaiah 14:12.

Tokyo finally told the Japanese people about the battle for Midway.

Text of the communique was as follows: "So sorry please."

In a suplementary issue of the Tojo Toboggan the government added, "We can't win all the time."

That is one piece of enemy propaganda we will endorse firmly.

They can't win all the time.

In fact they can't win.

We now are letting men into the army with only two lower teeth.

Eventually we will let them in without teeth.

We can beat Tokyo with guns alone.

WASHINGTON—Oliver Lyttleton, British minister of production: "The Axis powers made war on us long before they made war on you so our total production of munitions has greatly exceeded yours. Your rate of production recently overtook ours and will soon be far ahead. This is one race I will be glad to lose."

WASHINGTON—Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war declares the hardest part of the war lies ahead: "The production job we have yet to do is infinitely greater than the one we have done. Our armed participation in war is just beginning."

NEW YORK—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, Zionist leader: "All we can do is to place our faith in the triumph of democracy, a triumph for which we are ready to tax ourselves to the utmost in human and material sacrifices."

WASHINGTON—Herbert V. Evatt, foreign minister of Australia says the task of conquering Japan has only begun: "We have no reason what ever to regard the Pacific war as a sideshow. It is suicidal to tolerate any feeling of over-confidence or complacency."

CONSTANCY

Old-fashioned flowers, from year to year,
Still young and blithe to us appear,
Nor do we ever wish to flee
From primrose and anemone.

With every spring the daffodils,
Return to grace the fields and hills,
The tulips blossom, row by row,
And men rejoice that it is so.

Though men turn gray and are compelled
To drop the charms which once they held,
Still sweet are songs by cardinals sung
And all the things of earth seem young.

All man-made fashions fade and fail,
Talk becomes tiresome; jests grow stale,
But always lovely to behold
Are rose and phlox and marigold.

Someone has defined a hobby as a job which, if you were asked to do it for pay, you would quit.

As I write this, I am stiff all over. My hobby is gardening. Yesterday I was down on my knees most of the day, pulling weeds, cultivating, looking for bugs and spraying plants.

Then, bathed in perspiration, I went into the house, drank a lot of something cold and got a terrific stomach ache.

I have blisters on my hands, my nose is peeling, my neck and arms ache from sunburn.

That's what is called a hobby.

But if I were a paid gardener and asked to work half as hard for good pay, I'd grumble and kick at the injustice of life, when a man risks pneumonia and rheumatism for a few flowers and a bit of corn and lettuce.

The best way to stop people from wasting tires and gas is to make them go joy-riding and paying them for it.

Quarter Million Persons Cheer British And American Heroes At Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—Thirteen British and American war heroes resumed their war bond tour of the nation today with the plaudits of every Philadelphian still ringing in their ears.

An estimated 250,000 persons cheered the heroes in a huge street parade and thousands more gathered in the rain to hear the fighters address a mass rally at the mid-city Reyburn Plaza.

The 13 men—10 British and three Americans—came from the outposts of the Pacific, the sands of Libya, from Java and Luzon and from the British Isles. All were reticent about their feats and all obviously embarrassed at the tumultuous welcome.

Ensign Donald F. Mason, American navy airman who sent the famous message "sighted sub, sank same", disclosed that his wife is getting fed up with his terseness. "The censor allows us to send only one-page letters and darned if I can cover more than one side," said Mason.

Sergeant R. G. Herbert, British commando, told of his part in capturing an island off Vaagso in Norway. He said:

"Our job was to take four coastal batteries. I was leading 10 men. We took one battery in three minutes, and then I saw a German duck away. I followed him into a cave and found 17 Germans there, all armed.

"They made no attempt to fight. Why? I guess they were shell-shocked," related Herbert. "I guessed we were all right then. We had the whole island in eight minutes."

Hitler, Mussolini And Hirohito Take It From Sailors Here

"All right, men, hit the deck," yells the master at arms at 5:30 in the morning at the camp of the construction sailors, out at Cunningham Park.

And so amid groans and yawns begins the sailor's day. It is what we New Castle civilians might call a fairly active day. Just to give you an idea, the construction sailors', or Seabees', as they prefer to be called, daily schedule goes something like this:

After the 5:30 reveille comes exercises at 6:00, then at 6:30 swabbing down the decks or to landlubbers barracks clean-up detail. Breakfast follows at 7 and colors are raised at 7:30. From 7:35 to 11:45 the men attend work or class; half the company on each detail. There is a break for lunch but at 12:45 the Seabees are back to work or class, this time with the morning details switched—those who worked during the morning are now in class. The working day ends at 4:30 and the boys are free to do anything they please until 9:30.

Just looking at that schedule made this civilian feel soft and tired. But the sailors seem to thrive on it.

New Navy Battalion

The men at Cunningham Park are part of a new Navy battalion being trained to both work and fight. They are a sea-going construction battalion and their mission, when they complete their training, will be to seize, fortify and defend our outposts, island and otherwise.

Their training reflects their grim purpose. The Seabees' work and classes have two purposes in mind; to enable the men to fight strenuously and build rapidly.

The classes, which are more likely to be combat drill than classwork, include military technique, care of rifles and small arms, first aid, naval rules, regulations and drill.

It is quite a thrill to watch these boys in combat drill, or extended order drill, the technical name for it according to Ensign Brown. There is a large field behind the camp with a small house way down at the end. That little brown house is usually the objective.

About 25 sailors armed with rifles set out to take that house from the "Japs." They slip across the field in short dashes, throwing themselves to the ground at the command of their Marine drillmaster. As they get closer and closer to the "Japs," they begin to yell imprecations on his head. One begins to realize, watching these boys at combat or extended order drill, that they are playing a very deadly game and your reporter, for one, would hate to be the "Jap objective" that these boys set out to capture. They are in deadly earnest.

Hitler, Hirohito, Musso Get It

Bayonet drill is almost as impressive. The boys go to work on three dummies, better known as Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito. Hitler and his friends are made of burlap and each has a six-foot bayonet or parry stick out in front. The sailors must come up on the run, beat the springed parry stick aside and jab before the stick swings back and hits them.

"This," said Ensign Brown, "is probably the favorite drill out here."

The boys advance on the dummies, yelling wildly, and fight those parry sticks as though they were living beings. It is a disgrace to let Hitler, Mussolini or Hirohito hit you. Once more, an onlooker cannot fail to be impressed with the seriousness of the proceedings. These sailors are not training for any pink tea party.

The work they are doing reflects the same grim purpose. They are renovating buildings, strengthening them, laying out roads, excavating and doing any and all sorts of work to toughen and prepare them for the day when the excellence of their work may mean the difference between life and death.

But "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." And it works the same way with a Seabee. So they get liberty two nights a week to come into town and enjoy themselves, which they do with a right good will.

"New Castle," said one of the Seabees to your reporter, "is great. The people are swell to us." Another said that he had never been in as nice a post as New Castle and that he doubted if he ever would again. All were unanimous in their praise of New Castle and its people.

It may be said in passing that if any New Castle people would like to entertain some of these boys at dinner or a party, arrangements may be made by calling USO headquarters at the YMCA, 'phone number 215.

One leaves, after a visit with the Seabees, with a feeling of respect and admiration for these representatives of our armed forces. For the first time one realizes what our boys are going to keep us safe, and it made this reporter want to say: "Hats off to the Seabees!"

Close Vote On Cut In Funds For W.P.A.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A proposal to cut WPA appropriations from 280,000,000 to $112,000,000 on the ground of wartime economy was rejected by the house Thursday by the close vote of 123 to 119.

U. S. MOVES FOR OFFENSIVE AGAINST AXIS

War Production Rises Rapidly

Growing Aerial Onslaughts By Americans To Spearhead Attack

RECENT JAP DEFEAT SIGN OF PROGRAM

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 12—Paced by the rising tide of American War Production, United States forces on land, sea and in the air today are moving with increasing speed in the direction of a world - wide offensive against Germany, Italy and Japan.

This was indicated strongly by a series of recent events and developments, but military experts asserted that American participation on a large scale in World War II probably would be spearheaded by growing aerial onslaughts on scattered fronts.

Highlight of the developing American offensive attitude was the White House announcement that President Roosevelt and foreign affairs Commisar V. M. Molotov of the Soviet Union have reached "a full understanding . . . with regard to the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

Disclosure that the agreement was reached in a series of conferences in Washington followed closely a series of meetings in London between high ranking American and British military and naval leaders on offensive war plans.

Heels of Victory

It also came close on the heels of the smashing American victory over the Japanese in the sea and aerial battle of Midway Island, which relieved for the time being the Nipponese threat to Hawaii, Alaska, Australia and the Pacific Coast.

While preparations point to American participation in a land offensive against Hitler's forces as soon as possible, it appears certain that any such move probably will be preceded by an aerial onslaught against German-occupied Europe.

This was indicated strongly several days ago when Lt. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Chief of the Army Air forces, said that recent British mass bombing raids against Germany "were just starters to those which are to follow when U. S. and RAF fighters and bombers ride the skies as a team."

Any large offensive against Japan or Nipponese-occupied territory in the Pacific and the Orient also is likely to take the form, at first, of air raids of growing intensity as more planes move off the production lines.

From India, Australia and Hawaii, this offensive already is under way on a limited scale, with American bombers keeping up a fairly steady pounding against Japanese invasion bases, warships and communication lines.

Best example of America's growing aerial might was the stinging defeat of the powerful Nipponese invasion armada off Midway Island. Reports from Hawaii indicated that a large part of the damage to Japanese warships, was inflicted by army bombers.

The Navy, however, also has been striking boldly at the Japanese for months despite the fact that many of its warships have been forced to spend considerable time convoying supplies and reinforcements.

DENVER—The Red Rocks of the Garden of the Gods near Colorado Springs and those of the Park of the Red Rocks west of Denver are situated among their younger brothers—the Rock mountains. Geologists estimated the age of the red rock formations at two hundred million years—that of the Rockies, a mere 80 million.

Pin Ball And Slot Machines Seized In Raids

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 12—District Attorney Russel H. Adams today appraised his "haul" of 42 pinball machines and 25 slot machines, taken in a series of raids designed to smash the flourishing racket in Allegheny county.

The machines, gleamed from candy stores, cigar stores and bars, Adams contends, are gambling devices and he said he will petition the court for permission to destroy them, thus preventing the owners from transporting them to other counties or states.

Nearly Half Million Aid Raid Protectors

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 12.—The number of air raid protection volunteers in Pennsylvania has risen to 416,688 with the addition of 55,000 who signed up during May, the state defense council disclosed today.

Included are 136,675 air raid wardens, 54,811 auxiliary firemen, 45,005 auxiliary police, 30,714 emergency medical personnel and 29,966 messengers

The defense council said plans are now being completed for Pennsylvania's first dusk-to-dawn blackouts on June 23, 24 and 25. Most of the defense corps units throughout the state will participate in handling realistic air raid "incidents" during the blackouts, which will be held in eastern counties June 23, in central counties June 24 and in western counties June 25.

Despite the increase in the number of volunteers, the citizens defense corps is still considerably short of its estimated statewide requirements of 780,000, the state defense council pointed out.

The only groups that have a full complement are the air raid warden, auxiliary police and auxiliary firemen units. The other groups are still short of their goal, the council stated.

'Post-War Ruin' Fears Rapped

New U. S. C. Of C. President Points To 'Full Employment' Era

JOHNSON REVEALS OPTIMISTIC VIEWS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 12—Widespread fears that blighting unemployment and economic ruin face the United States after the war were blasted today by Eric A. Johnston, newly-elected president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Addressing the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, Johnston cited five factors which point toward "full employment" after the world conflict. The new C. of C. chieftain, a resident of Spokane, Wash., declared:

"We will have the greatest plant capacity in our history; the greatest amount of materials, both natural and synthetic; the greatest number of skilled mechanics ever available; the greatest backlog of accumulated demands, and the necessary accumulated savings.

"There are many in our country who would like to see a regimented system in America because they fee that a system of free men and free management can not solve the problems of unemployment," continued Johnston.

"These dire predictions are based upon the fact that the American public would welcome a regimented society that would promise jobs and security. I feel this is absolutely untrue; the great majority of the American people want the free enterprise system.

"They want," he said, "freedom of the individual to come and go as he pleases, to work where he wishes, to star or stop a business as he chooses, to worship where the spirit moves him, to sit on his front porch in his stocking feet and smoke a corn-cob pipe on Sunday if he feels like it."

In ancient times the diamond was often associated with lightning, and was generally believed to owe its origin to the thunderbolt.

When Molotov Met With President Roosevelt

This historic picture, one of the few taken of V. M. Molotov, Soviet commissar of foreign affairs, was taken when the Russian visitor to the United States conferred recently with President Roosevelt at the White House. Molotov arrived in the United States secretly May 29 and departed June 4. He now is back in Russia.

NAVY REPORTS ON CORAL SEA BATTLE LOSSES

was sunk by an internal explosion hours after the naval engagement in which the Japs severely damaged the vessel.

Fifteen Sunk

Japanese losses at New Guinea and in the battle of the Coral sea were listed as more than 15 sunk, including:

One aircraft carrier.
Three heavy cruisers.
One light cruiser.
Two destroyers.
Several transports and small vessels.

In addition, to those sunk, the navy stated that severe damage was inflicted on more than 20 enemy ships, including one carrier, four cruisers, two aircraft tenders, and three destroyers, plus more than 100 Japanese planes.

The latest figures brought to 51 the number of Japanese warships sunk to date by American naval forces. In addition, 10 more combat ships were listed as probably sunk, four believed sunk, two possibly sunk, and 43 damaged for a grand total of 110.

U. S. Losses

Revelation of the loss of the 33,000-ton Lexington and the Destroyer Sims plus a naval tanker flatly refuted earlier Japanese claims that the Coral sea battle was a tremendous victory for the Nipponese.

Following the battle, Japanese propaganda broadcasts claimed that their forces sent to the bottom one U. S. battleship of the California class, two carriers of the Saratoga and Yorktown classes, two heavy cruisers of the Portland class, and one British destroyer.

In addition, the Nipponese claimed heavy damage on an American battleship to the North Carolina class, and one British Battleship of the Warspite class, plus an Australian and two U. S. cruisers and a tanker.

Most dramatic part of the navy's communique was the secetion dealing with the loss of the Lexington, one of the nation's first aircraft carries and one of the largest in the world.

Despite the fact that the Japanese on at least three occasions claimed they had sunk the Lexington, the 33,000-ton vessel actually was lost many hours after the Coral sea engagement by an explosion that was believed to have been caused by leaking gas fumes.

The Lexington finally was lost in the last stages of the battle of the Coral sea.

"On May 8 the same task force (American) again carried the attack to the enemy and succeeded in inflicting serious damage on a second Japanese carrier, the Shokaku, which was left ablaze as a result of bomb and torpedo hit," the communique said.

Great Opportunities Ahead For Graduates This Year Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 12.—As in some recent past years, school and college graduates are not faced this month with prospects of unemployment. The majority of male graduates will shortly enter some branch of the armed services. For those having a deferred status, jobs will be plentiful with government agencies and armament industries taking the cream. Young women, too, who desire employment also have little concern. The status of women in business and industry has grown rapidly. Even without the war many girls would find jobs open to them today which a few years ago would have been thought impossible for them to hold down.

BABSON

Recognize the Signs

In spite of the war, conditions in our country as well as throughout the world are better today. How I envy the young people now graduating from school and college. They will play a most important part in our future progress. My only regret is that I am not young enough to grasp the many wonderful opportunities which lie within the reach of today's youth. I wish I were starting my own life all over again. When I graduated from college in 1898 no such advantages and opportunities awaited me as are now at hand for the current crop of graduates.

Young people who have reached the age of majority and have completed their formal schooling can make of their future exactly what they are willing to put into the effort. While circumstances have much to do with success in any field, nevertheless hard work, concentration and good personal habits are still responsible for the difference between success and failure. Above everything else, the ability to recognize the signs of the times and the openings they provide is of prime importance. Let us briefly examine the outlook today.

The Part You Will Play

If you are old enough to graduate from college you are old enough to put aside childish thoughts and habits. You are old enough to act like men and women. It is to you youngsters facing bravely a new world that I want seriously to write this week. I have said before that I envy you. My reasons are as follows:

1. You will have been a factor in saving the good things of this world against the gangsters of Europe and Asia.

2. You will be acquainted with the new defense industry which will continue an important factor after the war.

3. You will belong to the world's leading and greatest nation, when, after the war, all the world looks to us for guidance.

4. You will see the airplane coming into its own, carrying passengers and freight to all parts of the world, revolutionizing commerce.

5. You can have a part in reforming and rebuilding democracy; in fact the veterans of World War II may control politics.

6. You will enjoy a more sensible standard of living with much of the present foolishness and waste eliminated.

7. If you are an expert on some phase of business, with a real helpmate for a wife, you need have no financial worries.

8. You will enjoy new inventions, new products and new processes not yet discovered. These will give further new openings.

9. You are fortunate to enter business without the handicaps of having been trained in the "good old days" which your parents miss.

10. Most important of all, you will witness a great spiritual awakening in which I sincerely hope you will take a most active part.

A Way Of Life

Of course, much depends on the length of the war. It may last some years or it may be over within 12 months. One thing I am certain, namely, the longer it lasts, the greater opportunities it will offer to those who are alert and anxious to be of real service. Right now young people can render great service by keeping calm and helping others from getting excited and going off half-cocked. Too many people—old and young—are not showing the courage necessary to face these wartime days. They are running around, waving their hands in the air and saying "What can I do?" "What can I do?" Just tell them to hold on a minute, to quiet down, and to take it easy. Furthermore my young friends, don't you jump through the first hoop held before you. Consult with your parents—they've been through the mill. If in disagreement with them try compromising.

After the war, much pressure will be brought upon you to join this group or that group. The age-old question of world expansion or national isolation will again come up. Blocs of one kind or another will be formed. Labor problems will again be in the forefront. Even if many of the administration's wartime powers are revoked, new social order schemes will arise to take their place. My advice is to avoid all of these. Go quietly about your business, keep your own counsel, be not talked into or against any faction. Such cycles come and go. During the coming one there will be marvelous chances for the young people who keep their eyes and ears open, their life clean and their mouth shut!

Penn State Leads In War Training

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, June 12.—During the year and a half the Pennsylvania State college has contributed to the nation's war effort by training 62,792 men and women throughout the state for technical jobs in war industries.

This program has been carried on under the sponsorship of the U. S. Office of Education. The enrollment figures, released today by E. L. Keller, in charge of the training, indicate that Penn State's program is the largest in the nation.

The total enrollment figure includes students participating in six separate programs. Over 27,000 are enrolled in the current engineering, science and management defense training program in 135 centers in the state.

In a letter to President Roosevelt, the National Education Association stated that it has trained more than one million and a half persons for defense industries.

THE SALVATION ARMY

Salvation Army officers do not drink intoxicating liquor or smoke. The Founder of The Salvation Army worked for some time, when a youth, as a pawnbroker's assistant. Day after daw he watched miserable men and women and even little children make their way into the shop and part with some much-needed article of clothing or some treasured possession, so that the terrible longing for drink might be satisfied. He saw what it did to them—mentally, physically and spiritually. They haunted his boyish dreams. Their abject misery and wretchedness tore at his heart-strings. He saw so clearly that all their sorrows, their poverty, their fightings, their cruelties, their inhuman beastliness—all were the result of drink, and with all his soul, he loathed it.

When he started his life work, bringing to those multitudes of men and women who would not or could not go to church, the glorious news of deliverance from sin, through Jesus Christ, he made it plain that the old life must go. No more drinking, no more swearing, no more gambling . . . all must go, and a new life must be begun.

Very often the Army Captain would call for the new convert early in the morning and walk to work with him, so that the temptation to "have a glass" before starting the day's work, might be overcome. At night the Captain would be waiting at the factory gates, or the pit ahead, and would walk home with the new convert, so that he need not pass alone, the scenes of his previous downfalls.

Because smoking might be reminiscent of convivial hours spent in the saloons, and because the new converts had to be educated in ways of cleanliness and thrift, they were urged, although not required, to give up tobacco also. However, no Salvation Army soldier might hold office in the organization and smoke, and no Salvation Army officer was permitted to smoke.

Today, in the Twentieth Century, some of the Army methods have become modified and adapted to modern life, but the Army's position with regard to the drink question remains unchanged. No one may become a member of the organization who drinks, and no one may hold any office whatever who drinks or smokes.

Local Vacation Sports In For Boom Summer

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—Western Pennsylvania vacation resorts are in for a boom season, judging by the number of inquiries received by Philadelphia automobile clubs from potential vacationists.

Erie county's lakeshore, Western Pennsylvania mountain resorts and the Niagara Falls section are all beyond the "Leon Henderson Line" and will probably receive a large share of the tourist trade if national gas rationing does not go into effect.

Club clerks have been kept busy figuring out how far vacationists can get on their ration cards before they reach the "golden west," which now starts where the rationing line ends.

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., June 12.—Charles R. Owens, 37, an instructor in chemical engineering, was shot and killed Thursday on the Ohio State University campus.

Shortly afterward, campus patrolman William North took into custody Owens' 16-year-old stepson, Steadman Thompson, who North said fired the fatal shot. Thompson is a high school junior.

Owens was at work in the chemical laboratory when the boy entered, apparently to patch up domestic differences between the instructor and Mrs. Owens, a university spokesman said.

Clergyman Shortage In War-Boom Towns

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, June 12.—Shortages are no longer confined to gasoline and sugar. "Boom" towns, created by war work, are undersupplied with clergymen, according to Dr. Arthur H. Limouze of New York, member of the general council of the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Limouze told 500 members of the Women's Missionary organization that the ministers may meet the situation by volunteering for field work for a certain period, as they have done for the armed forces.

Home Ownership Greater In City

Proportion Of Home Owners Large In New Castle Says Department Of Commerce

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, June 12.—A greater proportion of New Castle's population own the homes they live in and the homes are more modern, although in greater need of repair, than are dwellings in most cities in the nation, according to final figures just issued by the department of commerce in reporting the results of the 1940 decennial census.

Of the 12,722 occupied dwellings in the city, 5,549 or 43.6 per cent are owned by their occupants. This compares favorably with the national figure for cities, 37.5 per cent.

Only 25.4 per cent of the 13,046 homes in the city, occupied and unoccupied, have no private baths, as against 46.0 per cent in the nation at large. Major repairs—of the type whose continued neglect would impair the soundness of the structure—were found by the census bureau to be necessary in more than 11.5 per cent of the cases in other cities, but in New Castle 13.1 were in need of repair.

Fewer of the owner-occupied homes in New Castle are under mortgage, the figures show. The comparison is 43.4 per cent in the city mortgage and an average of nearly 50 per cent in other cities.

Over 100,000 Belgians are estimated to be working in Germany.

Blackout Traffic Rules For June 25

Rules governing movement of street and highway pedestrian and vehicular traffic during the partial blackout to be tried in this county June 25 were received today from State Council of Defense Director A. C. Marts and the released today by Lawrence County Executive Director W. Fulton Jackson.

The rules follow:

1. The blackout shall consist of two parts:

(a) A partial blackout from dusk to dawn.

(b) Complete blackout for a period of 30 minutes preceded by the usual air raid alarm and terminated by the all clear signal.

2. During the partial blackout, all vehicular and pedestrian traffic shall be permitted to move without any deviation being required from normal practice of highway illumination and other lights required by law on motor vehicles. Attention is called to the fact that this is a temporary rule for this practice blackout and will be revised for later guidance when the approved blackout lighting equipment is available for distribution.

3. During the half-hour complete blackout from the time the air raid signal is given or notification of such is received from a peace officer, continuously until the all clear signal is given thereafter, only Emergeny Vehicles shall be permitted to move. These shall include military vehicles, vehicles of authorized Federal and State and Municipal governmental officials, vehicles used by police and fire departments, vehicles used by the United States Citizens Defense Corps, Civilian Defense Auxiliary Groups and such other vehicles as may have specific authorization of the State, County and Local Councils of Defense.

4 Movement during the half hour complete blackout of Emergency Vehicles as defined above shall be subject to such vehicles being equipped with approved markings and blackout lighting equipment. Since, however, the approved blackout lighting equipment is not available at this time, the following requirements shall be considered satisfactory:

(a) All vehicles not already visibly marked as such to be plainly marked on the front and back with the letter 'E" painted in white of a height not less than 12 inches.

(b) All lights shall be dimmed or hooded to a degree which will render all light invisible from a distance of five thousand (5,000) feet overhead. Use of parking lights or dimmed headlights will satisfy the requirements for this practice blackout.

5. Authority to equip a motor vehicle with an "E" or approved blackout lighting equipment shall be obtained from the local Council of Defense by written application and shall be granted by endorsing upon the back of the authorized identification card of the U. S. Citizens Defense Corps or Civilian Defense Group the words "authorized to operate Emergency Vehicle," and signed by the authorized official of the Local Council of Defense. However, the following operators of motor vehicles shall not be required to have such authorization from the Local Council of Defense: Military, Federal, State and Municipal Agencies.

6. Operators of all other vehicular traffic shall, during the half hour complete blackout:

(a) Immediately withdraw to the side of the road or street and park in such a manner as not to interfere with movement of traffic and extinguish all lights; this to include buses operating as common carriers and bicyclists.

(b) Street cars and elevated trains shall be stopped at the next stop or near side of main street intersection and remain in this position with lights extinguished. Elevated train operators shall take such precautions as may be necessary to prevent rear and collision with follower by pulling clear of platform if required.

(c) Pedrestians excepting those having specific duties to perform with reference to administration of the blackout shall remain indoors.

MINER COULD HARDLY EAT ENOUGH TO KEEP UP

Retonga Relieved His Distress So He Can Eat Anything Now And Lots Of It, States Mr. Buffington. Feels Fine Again.

MR. W. F. BUFFINGTON

"Retonga did everything claimed for it in my case, and I can tell all my friends that it beats any medicine I have ever taken," declares Mr. W. F. Buffington, well known miner for the Truex Traier Coal Co., who resides at Racine, W. Va., and is a popular member of the United Mine Workers of America. Discussing his experience with this famous gastric tonic combined with Vitamin B-1, which so many throughout West Virginia are praising, Mr. Buffington declared:

"I hardly ate enough to keep up my strength for everything I did eat made me suffer torture with sour indigestion and heartburn. My tongue was badly coated, I had a foul taste in my mouth, and the gas in my stomach made me so uncomfortable that often I could hardly sleep a wink all night. I was always having to take strong weakening cathartics, and between this trouble and the indigestion I hardly had strength enough left to carry on my job as a miner.

"A neighbor of mine got such fine results from Retonga I tried it, and the relief it brought me beats anything I have ever seen. I eat anything I want now and lots of it. I don't have to take strong cathartics and I feel fine. Retonga deserves all the praise that I can give it.

Accept no substitute. Genuine Retonga at Eckerd's and Pay Less Store.—Adv.

Scottish Rite Reunion Ends

Large Number Present For Conferring Of Degrees On Concluding Day

DINNER PARTY ON NEXT FRIDAY

With a large attendance of the membership present, and a number of visitors from surrounding consistories in attendance, the 70th reunion of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, A. A. S. R. was brought to a close Thursday night.

It was the first reunion for Commander in Chief Howard Geary and marked by the largest class in more than ten years, old fashioned Masonic fellowship prevailing at the gathering.

The customary dinner party, party, which always winds up the reunions was postponed for one week in connection with the current reunion, due to the exigencies of defense, as many of the members were unable to spare the time away from their work any longer this week.

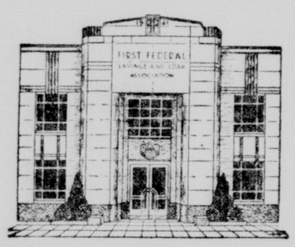

A splendid program of entertainment has been arranged for the party which will occur in The Cathedral Friday evening, June 19, the entertainment committee announces, and many reservations have already been made for the event.

SUVA, Fiji—The Fiji Islands have reverted to standard time, after experimenting with daylight saving which officials declared proved unworkable.

Sir Harry Luke, governor of Fiji, said he thought it would be "generally agreed that the passage of the original daylight saving bill in the legislative council had been a valuable experiment" but that it was obvious that the value of daylight saving varied with the seasons."

New Method Of Curing Shock Is Given Doctors

Described At Medical Association Convention Being Held At Atlantic City

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 12.—A new and highly effecting method of curing usually fatal cases of shock, by the injection of tiny "building stones" into the body was described today to the American Medical Association.

Professor Robert Elman of Washington university, St. Louis, Mo., who devised the method, said successful experiments indicated it was an efficient substitute for expensive blood plasma transfusions.

Dr. Elman said the "building stones" were large sized molecules of about 22 "amino acids" of which all the known proteins of the body are composed. He said that by "shock" he meant cases that involved the "collapse of the body".

He pointed out that this collapse usually resulted from lack of proteins in the blood. Dr. Elman stated that by shock he meant collapse of the body due to failure of the normal blood circulation; caused by war wounds; bomb explosions; industrial accidents; severe burns; mechanical injuries especially those resulting in profuse bleeding and surgical operations.

The noted surgeon said that the aminos acids are available in pure, synthetic form. He stated that mere injections of salt and sugar (glucose) brought relief of a temporary nature only and asserted that the use of blood plasma was expensive.

New investigations showing the hidden disorders of the liver as the cause of many baffling maladies were discussed by Prof. Sidney A. Portis of the University of Illinois medical school, Chicago. Lack of B-complex vitamins in the daily diet is one of the main causes of insidious liver disorders, he said.

Moravia Reunion Committees Named

To Be Held At Moravia Presbyterian Church, Thursday, June 18 By Group

Thursday, June 18, the annual homecoming of the descendants of the early pioneers of Moravia and vicinity will take place at the Moravia Presbyterian church.

The reunion will be a family affair and a basket picnic will be served at 12 o'clock noon. A large attendance is expected, including descendants of old settlers of Moravia and also the West Pittsburg vicinity. Out-of-state residents will also attend.

Children and grand children and great, great grand children of the early pioneers of this locality are scattered far and wide. Many of these early pioneers were soldiers in the Revolutionary and 1812 wars, and many were in the Civil War—all helping to make this great republic the grand and glorious nation it is today.

The Carson school was nearby and also the Leonard and McAnlis schools. The Leonard Run, the Edwards Run and Taylor Run were all named for former pioneers. About ½ mile from Moravia is located the old Zeigler cemetery, where two Revolutionary soldiers are in peace.

Some of the pioneers of this vicinity as early as 1796 to 1896 were: McConahy, Morrow, Jenkins, Aley, Edwards, Forbes, Woods, Crawford, Leslie, Davidson, Cunningham, McAnlis, McKinley, Hennon, Elder, Cochran, Chambers, Duff, Patterson, Allsworth, Clarks, Witherspoons, Leonard, Beacome, McJunkin, Douglass, Smith, Bruce, Kyle, Brothers, Kelso, Campbell, Cross, Zeiglar, Jackson, Pickens, McConnell, McMahon, Dickson, Whan, Gailey, Carson, Gwons, Lusk, Frisbee, Humes, Taylor, Crider, Bannon, Brown, Barge, Pitzer, Tindall, Stockman, Barnes, Ritchie, McFate, Eckles, Squire, Lower, Phillips, Gibson, Wrights, Millers, Book, Shremp, Felmeth, Graham, Britton, Heck, Paden, Hill, Stewart, Shaffer, Lutton, Wilson, Reed, Pollock, Freeman, Little, Vaneman, Copper, Alt and Conner.

Mrs. George McConnell, president, and Mrs. A. T. Eckles, secretary, today announce the committees to be as follows:

School Teacher And Soldier In Proxy Marriage

Teacher In Missouri And Lieutenant In Australia In Novel Marriage Ceremony

(International News Service)

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., June 12.—"Paul, dear, the answer is most ceratinly 'yes' and you may consider yourself a married man as of last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock central war time."

Mary Foster's voice wavered with excitement today as the pretty Cape Girardeau school teacher asked International News Service to convey this message to Lieut. Paul Spitzmiller to complete the first proxy marriage among the American forces in Australia.

"Please tell Paul," Mary said, "that I received his cable last Saturday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. and that at 3 p. m. I cabled him an answer. It was 'today I take you, Paul Spitzmiller, to be my lawful husband.' My answer was attested by the Rev. G. C. Fain, a Methodist minister in Cape Girardeau."

"Please tell him," Mary eagerly continued, "that I have sent him two other cables. Tell him, if you please, that I have been receiving his mail although he apparently hasn't been receiving mine."

"And please," Mary pleaded, "will you try to get a message from him for me. I'll be waiting by the telephone."

The correspondent assured Mary that every effort would be made to get her message to Lieut. Paul Spitzmiller and to obtain an answer from him.

When Mary was asked the contents of her other two cables she bashfully declined to reveal this. "But please tell Paul," she added, "that I send all my love."

General Motors Will Seek To Help Dealers In War

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 12—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of General Motors, announced today a policy of extending all "possible cooperation" to General Motors dealers throughout the war period.

"While a certain proportion of existing passenger cars is non-essential," he declared in a message to corporation stockholders, "a large number are indispensable and must be maintained or an all-out war effort cannot be effectively supported.

"That is why the functions of the automobile dealer differ importantly from those of others engaged in merchandising enterprises. It follows, therefore, that the automobile dealer is entitled to the fullest possible support of every one as an essential instrumentality in the war effort . . ."

Noting that the production of new passenger cars necessarily is cut off for the duration, Sloan added:

"It is the policy of the corporation to extend all possible cooperation in order to enable its dealers to carry on through the duration and emerge at the end in as sound a position as possible so they may continue effectively to discharge their obligations to themselves and to the customer."

The chairman said the corporation has agreed to take back for redistribution all new cars in "excess of what the dealers thought were desirable to be carried." A similar policy was adopted with regard to parts and accessories.

Diabetes may be prevented in persons susceptible to it by heredity or physique, by taking insulin or a high fat diet, if recent experiments on dogs prove applicable to man. Experiments are being carried out by Dr. C. N. Brest, co-discoverer of insulin.

Wartime Fruit Canning

Stretch your ration of canning sugar to the limit. The special sugar allowed for canning fruit has been issued you in trust—so that you may keep good food from going to waste. Every jar of fruit you put up helps lighten the load on commercial canneries and helps relieve overworked transportation facilities.

But remember, sugar supplies are still limited. Sugar still is being brought to the United States at great risk to the lives of many of our countrymen. So use your canning allowance carefully.

Keep in mind that sugar is not needed in canning to keep food from spoiling. But it does help fruit hold its color and flavor.

Pack Fruit Hot

Cook the fruit first in an open kettle, then pack it hot into jars in its own juice. That way you'll need much less sugar than if you pack the fruit cold, then cover it with a sugar-and-water syrup. By sweetening the fruit slightly, then heating it, you can draw out juice from the fruit itself, in many cases make it unnecessary to can any added water.

Incidentally, packing fruit hot into containers accomplishes two other purposes. The precooking shrinks the fruit and makes it possible to make more economical use of limited jar space and rubbers. And it also cuts down on the time you have to process fruits in the water bath to kill the bacteria that may cause spoilage. A quart of precooked berries, for instance, need be processed only 5 minutes. Berries packed raw and covered with hot sirup need 20 minutes processing in a water bath.

Juicy Fruits

To draw out the juices of fruits such as cherries, berries, plums—sweeten the fruit slightly, then heat it very slowly, just to the boiling point. Keep it from scorching by stirring it from time to time if you set the plan of fruit directly on the stove. Or set the pan of fruit in another pan of hot water to precook.

Usually, it's best to separate the riper fruits from those that are less ripe. Then you can crush these riper fruits, heat them, and extract juice from them. Preheat the less ripe fruit, which you have set aside, in this juice. Add sugar to sweeten slightly if necessary. Fill the jars. Make sure there is plenty of juice to cover the fruit. Process in a water bath.

If you like—crush all the fruit and heat it as suggested above. Add sugar or not as you like and can this crushed fruit to use later in shortcakes, frozen desserts, puddings, and pies.

Using Honey or Corn Sirup

If you like, half of the sweetening you add to fruits for canning may be honey. Or up to one-third of the sweetening may be corn sirup. Naturally, it isn't practical to substitute both honey and corn sirup in the same can of fruit.

'SAM' OR 'JOE'

(International News Service)

CURACAO, D. W. I.—Natives in this Dutch island call every American soldier "Sam," whether he be private, non-com or officer. In the same manner, every British soldier is "George". In Trinidad, however, every American soldier is "Joe".

The natives seem to like the American soldiers better than the British, and have all but abandoned cricket to learn baseball and basketball from "Sam". Here as in Trinidad, baseball is fast becoming the national game.

Warns Government In Wartime Must Not Shake Morale

New York C. Of C. Cites Five Dangers Authorities Must Avoid

NEW YORK, June 11 — A warning that the nation's war morale can be undermined by the government itself was sounded by the New York State Chamber of Commerce today in the adoption of a report which cited five specific policies or acts which should be avoided by the government in order to preserve the unity and voluntary cooperation which are imperative to win the war.

The dangers to war morale from government sources were listed as follows:

1. Attacks on business which are unjustified.
2. Publicity for self advertising or partisan politics.
3. Unnecessary concealment of facts and of errors and mistakes of judgment.
4. Harping criticism of the patriotism of individuals or groups.
5. Inaugurating sumptuary regulations without adequate explanation of their need in winning the war.

Reports Must Be Watched

The report pointed out that public morale can be influenced greatly by the way in which events and necessary actions incidental to the war are reported. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the necessity of rigid military censorship where it concerns our fighting forces or those of our allies, the report said, adding:

"But it is dangerous and harmful to public morale if any consideration other than military necessities be permitted to influence either the truthful presentation of all the facts or the time when such facts are reported. Whether it is right or wrong, there is a widely held conviction, that news about the war, if the event is a military or naval defeat, is withheld beyond the time required for military reasons, so as to be given out coincidentally with some item of good news, and that all facts are not given to the public because of desire to conceal evidence of mistakes and errors of judgment which have been made."

Garden Hints

One helpful method of keeping down disease in the garden is to remove any plant or part of a plant showing disease symptoms. The diseased plants, handled carefully so as not to spread the infection, should immediately be burned.

Plant endive and kale this month for a fall crop of greens. Beens, beets, carrots, kohlrabi and turnips can be sown at the end of the month for a fall crop.

Remember that lettuce suffers in mid-summer unless given ample water and some protection from the hot sun.

Towards the end of June cutting of the asparagus should cease, after which a generous feeding is in order.

Aphids are busy creatures this month and should be sprayed with nicotine, pyrethrum or rotenone.

When cultivating about the cauliflower plants, be careful not to injure foilage, since it is brittle and breaks easily.

The North Carolina orthopedic hospital, at Gastonia, is the only state owned and state maintained institution of its kind in southern United States.

Temporary Gas Rationing Plan Given Extension

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 12—Proponents of nation-wide gasoline rationing as a rubber conservation measure found their position enhanced today despite the forthcoming scrap campaign which may yield 700,000 tons or more of reclaimed rubber.

Undersecretary of War Patterson flatly recommended the far-reaching step in testimony before a congressional committee and blasted the prospects of a senate group which hopes to retread enough tires to avoid rationing outside of the east.

Following Patterson's remarks the OPA announced extension of the east coast's temporary rationing plan to July 15, when the permanent system will become effective, and doubled the value of the current ration unit to enable motorists to get through the additional two weeks. The temporary system had been scheduled to end June 30.

The increase in the value of the ration unit from three to six gallons of gasoline becomes effective at 12:01 a. m. Monday. Card holders who have exhausted all units on their cards by Monday may apply to local rationing boards for enough gasoline to last them during the first two weeks of July.

Additional significance was attached to Patterson's statement in that he spoke as a member of the War Production Board which has had a program for national rationing under consideration for several weeks.

The nation's war planners, from WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson on down, have repeatedly emphasized the critical rubber shortage and reportedly view gasoline rationing as the only solution.

Rubber Czar Arthur Newhall has openly opposed voluntary attempts at conservation as unsuitable and endorsed rationing of gasoline as the most equitable and quickest method to preserve the country's automobile tires.

The scrap collection campaign, to be formally announced by President Roosevelt, is viewed by WPB officials as vitally necessary to insure enough reclaimed rubber for military and absolutely essential civilian requirements.

Officials have figured on nearly 300,000 tons of reclaimed rubber for essential needs in each of the next two years. Recently, however, collections have been at only half the rate of consumption.

Finally, former Judge Charles Matthews, in behalf of New Castle and Sharon United Commercial Travelers council, greeted the delegates and promised that they would enjoy themselves to the fullest.

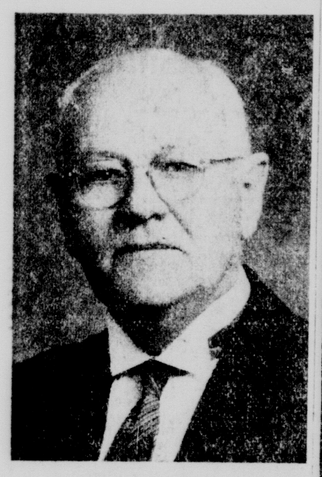

Grand Counselor Harry H. Boyd, Sharon, thanked the representatives of New Castle for their greetings and proceded to open the business session.

AUTOMAT IS OLD STUFF

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—The automat, mechanical waiter now in general use, is an old novelty, according to the Colorado Department of Information.

A revolving contraption called the "spiritual wheel" was in operation in a Colorado Springs saloon about 1871. A customer placed a coin on this wheel and received in exchange after one revolution a glass of liquor served up by a bartender behind a partition.

HOW TO PRESERVE TIRES

(International News Service)

MONTICELLO, N. Y.—"Fill 'er up—three gallons!" said the customer who had come down from the hills with his brood in an ancient jallopy. The tires seemed odd to the filler-upper. Investigation confirmed his worst fears—the hillman had found a set of used, oversize tires and had somehow stretched them over the shoes on the car, giving them perfect protection from wear.

Sabbath School Session Closes

Night Program Winds Up Day-Long County Convention Here

YOUNGSTOWN PASTOR EVENING SPEAKER

Lawrence County Sabbath School association closed its one-day convention in First Presbyterian church last night at a session which featured an inspirational address by Dr. Schuyler E. Garth, pastor of Trinity Methodist church in Youngstown.

Dr. Garth challenged the delegates in a stirring message which culminated the 104th conference of the county organization. Morning and afternoon had been given over to conferences and addresses, all based on the theme, "Forward with Christ in the Crisis".

Installation of new officers and presentation of a group of annual association awards also came in the evening. Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, pastor of the host church, made the presentations.

A ladies' sextet sang.

Five different discussion groups had rounded out the afternoon program, following the principal afternoon address given by Rev. Albert W. Sheckells, director of young people's work for the state association.

A group of young people led the devotions at the night service. Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, pastor of First Baptist church here, was song leader.

Warm weather seemed to affect convention attendance but little, and association leaders expressed themselves as more than satisfied with delegate response.

Banquet In Evening

Main fellowship event of the day was the convention dinner in the evening. Mrs. Joel S. McKee of the First Presbyterian church was in charge of the dinner arrangements.

Rev. J. Calvin Rose of Second U. P. church spoke during the afternoon devotionals on "Forward with Christ in the Home". Reports, including resolutions, were given attention. Two speakers, Mrs. A. J. Holman, of Pittsburgh, and Rev. Sheckells of Pittsburgh, spoke and the delegates participated in the annual memorial service for departed association members.

During the afternoon Rev. W. V. McLean, pastor of First Methodist church, read the timely address, "We Are At War," which President G. B. Cutten of Colgate university delivered at the recent Northern Baptist convention in Cleveland, and which was deemed highly appropriate for reading here.

Members of the ladies' sextet which sang last night were Mrs. W. J. Caldwell, Mrs. Ross D. Rosenberger, Mrs. L. P. Hauschild, Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, Mrs. L. P. Friend and Mrs. James A. Rugh. Mrs. Richard R. Allen was their accompanist.

Robert M. Strickler, re-elected president during the day, headed the group of officers formally installed last night.

Hold Pastor Under Bail On Charges

Ask $25,000 For Release Of Man Held On Conspiracy Charges At Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 12—Unable to raise $25,000 bail, Rev. Kurt E. B. Molzahn today was held in Moyamensing prison for further hearing next Tuesday and eventful transfer to Hartford, Conn., for trial on espionage charges.

Molzahn, pastor of Old Zion Lutheran church in Philadelphia, was arrested upon indictments for espionage conspiracy against him and four others including Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, former German-American Bund head.

U. S. Attorney Gerald A. Gleeson requested the $25,000 bail for the minister "in view of the fact that the principal defendant (Kunze) cannot be found." During the arraignment, Rev. Molzahn protested "I'm as innocent as any American can be."

Henry Birck, an attorney for the defendant, protested the high bond on the ground that the minister had "appeared willingly last week before the grand jury in Hartford." This was the first intimation that he had testified before the panel.

Delegates From State Are In Session At Wilkes-Barre —Many Problems

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 12.—The 36th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation opened at Wilkes-Barre today with delegates pledged to a war-time program of saving rubber, gasoline and automobiles.

The meeting will close tomorrow with the election of officers.

Judge Howard W. Hughes, Washington, association, president, outlined a five-point program designed to aid motorists during the war and called for the elimination of the special one-cent state gasoline tax.

He stated that repeal of the gasoline levy and "the enactment of other legislation safeguarding motorists and the motor license fund" was imperative.

The speakers' panel included Congressman Jennings Randolph, West Virginia; former State Sen. Andrew J. Sordoni; H. O. Doyle, representative of the Office of Price Administration; Charles M. Loveland, Wilkes-Barre mayor, and R. B. Maxwell, secretary-manager of the association.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Tractors and motors will never wholly replace the Army Mule as a factor in the mobile units of our army. The Army Mule is a tradition and the "mule skinner" is a breed unto himself. Army Mules are used by the Field Artillery and the Cavalry in areas where the terrain is rough and tractors cannot operate.

Pack trains in mountainous sectors are often necessary and here the mule, slow but sure-footed, plays an important role. Our Army buys thousands of mules paying from $175 to $190 for each. The mule eats less, carries more, and some declare is smarter than the horse. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps helps pay for these Army Mules. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. U. S. Treasury Department

Charges Japan Wages Germ War

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 12.—Documentary proof that Japan has been waging germ warfare in China was revealed today by Robert Barnett, United China relief official, who recently returned from the Far East.

The former Rhodes scholar and Rockefeller Foundation fellow disclosed his findings in a series of documents from Chinese officials. These were corroborated by Dr. Donald D. Van Slyke, president of the American Bureau of Medical Aid to China.

In effect, the statements disclosed that Japan has tried to produce epidemics of Bubonic plague in China by scattering grain and other matter mixed with plague-infested fleas from airplanes.

WOULD SCRAP DERRICKS

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The WPB Salvage Bureau today proposed the scrapping of useless oil derricks in Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas and California to bring in more than 300,000 tons of steel scrap to essential war production.

M. R. Singleton, WPB salvage official, said that the petroleum industry already has collected and moved to the mills about 335,000 tons of iron and steel scrap.

THRIFT . . .

An Old Word With New Meanings.

It's a sad truth that many people have always been a little ashamed of being thrifty. There was too much of "keeping up with the Joneses"—too little pride in living within income. ● All that is changed now. Good Americans are learning the satisfaction of making a little go a long way—of doing without unneccessary luxuries and services. ● These people by the million are joining the ranks of Penney customers — people who have always bought for cash, who have always carried their purchases home—who have always practiced the thrift to which patriotism now compels us all.

Indians, Red Sox Make Hay While N. Y. Yanks Idle

Cleveland Sweeps Senator Series "Clean"; Passeau Wins 9th For Cubs

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 12—The Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians made hay while the Yankees idled, and today had nudged up just a little closer to the high-flying pacesetters in the American league pennant race.

The Red Sox turned in their fifth victory in a row yesterday and the Indians completed a sweep of the Senators series, with the result that the Sox now hold down second place 9½ games behind the postponed Yanks and the Indians are a half game farther back.

That doesn't put the Red Sox and Indians much closer, but a half game isn't to be scorned now at a time when the Yankees persistently pull farther and farther ahead. Enough half games picked up here and there could bring about a race yet before the Yankees get so far in front that it will be all over.

The Red Sox spotted the St. Louis Browns five runs, then came on to win their game, 8 to 7, when Jim Tabor singled Lou Finney home with the winning marker in the ninth.

Browns Hit Hard

The Browns' attack included a two-run homer by George McQuinn, then a three-run homer by Frank Hayes, followed by a one-run homer by Criscola, despite all of which the Sox kept plugging until they sewed it up.

The Indians won their game from the Senators, 8 to 6, with a four-run blast in the ninth, which swept the series and gave the Indians a half game edge over Detroit in the tussle for third place, as only two games were played in the circuit.

Claude Passeau turned in his seventh straight victory for the Chicago Cubs in the only National league game, beating Philadelphia Phillies, 7 to 1.

It was Passeau's ninth win of the season and he allowed only five hits, two of them coming in the second inning when the Phils scored their only run.

Passeau also took part in the hitting. He drove in the tying run, after the Phils had scored, then scored a run.

Rodenbaugh-Piloted Aggregation Moves Into Second By Winning, 8-3

OTHER THURSDAY TIFFS POSTPONED

Championship talk is overflowing in the Moose club.

On the verge of being counted out of the first half City Baseball league drive, the Moose suddenly has become the team to beat.

The Rodenbaugh slickers made hay while a half dozen adversaries cooled off following Thursday's night rain, slapping an 8-3 loss on the chins of the strong Lawrence Indies, on Cedar street grounds.

The victory gave the Moose possession of second place, a few percentage points behind the Croton outfit.

Despite four hits, the Moose took advantage of everything in their favor to transform a tight pitching battle into a rout. Six runs in the seventh settled the setto. Rainey was the triumphant pitcher while Savage and Mikallaka were victims of the lopsided clash.

Rain, which has been a daily visitor here lately, forced a postponement of other league games, President Mike Donovan announced.

As a result, the schedule is top heavy with canceled frays. With the first half race carded to end on June 25, President Donovan urges teams to play-off postponed games as soon as possible, so as to not interfere with the beginning of second half derby.

West Pittsburg Claims Forfeit

Manager Ralph Fundoots Says Elders Lacked Full Lineup For Game

In a letter to Commissioner Charles A. Landolf, Manager Ralph Fundoots, of the West Pittsburg nine, claims a forfeit over the Elder A. C.

Fundoots' letter states:

"West Pittsburg traveled to the Elder ball field for Thursday's scheduled City Baseball league game and was prepared to play. The Elders had but eight ballplayers in uniform, and upon the command of the umpire-in-chief (George Shook) to play ball, the manager of the Elders (Joe O'Leary) waved to the umpire and stated that the field was too wet for action. The reason for his statement was the lack of a full team. As a result, we're entitled to the victory," Ralph Fundoots.

LINCOLN, Nebr., June 12 — The track was pronounced "lightning fast," and 200 entered athletes were colored in the proverbial pink and by sundown today the truth of both statements should become apparents in the annual NCAA championships.

The meet starts (6:30 p. m.) in the University of Nebraska's Memorial Stadium and the finals will be run off at the same hour tomorrow.

Southern California, with its lineup of 17 performers — the largest squad among the 49 schools represented—ruled a heavy favorite to make off with its eighth consecutive team title.

The war made a late appearance in the schedules. A mile relay has been added to Saturday's program, it was announced today, in which a squad from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station will compete against picked college teams.

But the spotlight will remain focused on the sparkling array of nine defending champions entered. This group includes Barney Ewell, Penn State, both dashes; Leslie MacMitchell, N.Y.U., mile; Bob Wright, Ohio State, both hurdles; Al Blozis, Georgetown, shot put; Campbell Kane, Indiana, 880; Hubert Kerns, Southern California, 440, and Harold Hunt, Nebraska, pole vault.

War Department Alone Can Whip New York Yanks

Boudreau And Dykes Have Given Up; Del Baker, Of Detroit, Says He Hasn't

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 12.—As we sit back and view the run-away race the Yankees are staging we wonder just what's going on in the minds of the managers of other American League clubs.

True, some have barred their feelings to the public but others have remained silent while the Yanks keep piling victory upon victory. So to get the reactions of all, we've got an idea. Let's arrange to have a group of scientists probe the skulls and the cerebella of all American League manager and reveal for posterity what thoughts, plans and broken schemes filter through those learned brain cells.

What dark thoughts, for example, must strain beneath the noble brow of James Chalmondeley Dykes, pilot of the last place Chicago White Sox?

What secret spring of frustration, futility and envy spawned the battered Mr. Dykes' classic statement recently that "the Yankees will have the pennant in the bag by July 4."

A year ago a statement like that would have brought a bellow of rage from the fighting Mr. Dykes and he would have set out with his favorite hairbrush to give the manager that made it a fine spanking. But something new has been added—yeah, verily.

The something new is the return to form of one E. Bonham, occupation, pitcher; employer Yankees and a rookie with similar ambitions name Hank Borowy, who happens to have won his last four starts. Thanks to these two gentlemen and the continued improvement of such standbys as Joe Gordon, Charlie Keller and a guy named DiMaggio, it looks as if the Yankees will be stopped by only one human agency this summer—the war department.

Baker Only Rebel

It is refreshing to report, however, that the legion of the condemned boasts at least one rebel. He is Del Baker, manager of the Tigers, who punctured the Yanks' pennant lead to an alarming 10 games Wednesday by whipping them 4 to 1.

Mr. Baker, a solid citizen and undoubtedly an ardent student of Dale Carnegie was downright shocked, he said to read of Dykes' appeasement policy. "It's all right for Dykes to give up hope, that's all he had this year, anyway," said Del, "but when I read that young Boudreau said there was no use trying to keep up with the Yankees, that made me ill."

Mr. B. then broke down and admitted that the Yankees were a pretty fair outfit and said he didn't mind being quoted that they were the team to beat.

"But, I don't feel the way Boudreau and Dykes do," continued Del, "and if I did I wouldn't admit it. The Tigers haven't give up and don't intend to. This league needs more fight and less whistling past the graveyard."

That's the old fight, Del, but if you keep up that kind of talk we won't invite you to our "headache" party.

That'll teach you to go around acting as you had a chance to win the pennant.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Pennsylvania bass is a very hungry fish as the result of high waters the past two weeks, so the fish commission today held out prospects of "excellent" angling at open of the statewide bass fishing season July 1, according to the State Fish Commission.

High streams have washed out much of the small and large mouth bass forage. What food is left is quite distasteful to the species because of muddy conditions. The bass, it was explained, is essentially a clear water feeder.

In addition to that state of affairs, bass now are spawning. All in all, the commission explains, the bass should be so ravenous come July 1 that a hookful of bait will be as tempting as filet mignon to a prisoner after a week in a Nazi concentration camp.

A "good many" bass were left over from last season and, coupled with the 570,682 fish freshly stocked, will provide some of the best fishing in years.

From July 1 to November 1, inclusive, fishermen will have the chance to land bass of all sizes. The largest caught last year were the 5 pound, 21 3-4 inch smallmouth landed by Lloyd King, Harrisburg, and the 8 pound, 22 1-4 inch largemouth caught by Robert Ryale, Johnson City, N. Y. Both used artificial lures.

Pat Murphy, former Youngstown boxer, captured the welterweight championship at the Quantico, Va., marine base, defeating Sammy Baker in the headline event of a card witnessed by 4,000 members of the armed forces. . . .

An 18-hole match play meeting pitting Craig Wood, U. S. open golf champion, and Bob Hope, radio comedian, against Babe Ruth and Corporal Vic Ghezzi, former PGA champion, will help swell the coffers of the navy relief society on June 13, at Bloomfield, N. J.

Roosevelt raceway, Westbury, Long Island, scene of night racing for the past two summers, will hold its meeting in the afternoons this season, it was announced today.

Herbert Bayard Swope, president of the Turf Committee of America, said today that the $207,000 war relief donation of the Belmont and Jamacia race tracks probably would be equalled by Aqueduct and Empire City.

There were a couple of surprises at the recent Farrell fights. For instance, Russell Baxter took a lacing from Howard James, of Pittsburgh, and Chris Tabor was laid low by Tommy Havanas in the third round. According to reports, James outweighed Baxter considerably. Rollin Horne was beaten by Roy Crews, of Ellwood City, and Jimmy Bagamer, of Zelienople, scored a TKO over Tony Magestro, of Sharon, in the third round.

Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight champion, and Norman Rubio, of Albany, N. Y., will box in Newark for Navy relief June 29. Both fighters have agreed to turn a portion of their receipts over to the fund, the Newark report stated.

Johnny Pesky, Boston Red Sox shortstop, has enlisted as a second-class seaman in the naval reserve, to enter training as an aviator. He passed his physical examination Thursday in Bostoon.

There ought to be some good fishing for the youngsters at Cascade Par' lake. According to reports, a shipment of fish from the game commission were placed in the lake.

Barney Ewell, of Penn State hopes to duplicate the winning of the century and 220-yard dashes tonight in Lincoln, Neb. Several hundred track and field champions have entered the meet, being staged by Nebraska U.

Achievement Tests Results Announced

Pupils Make High Ratings In Third, Sixth, Eighth Grades

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12.—Included in the monthly report given to members of the school board last evening by Superintendent J. Ellis Bell was the results of the achievement tests. The report follows:

One means of measuring our academic accomplishment and comparing our progress with that of other schools throughout the nation is by standard tests.

In April, tests were given to our third, sixth and eighth grade pupils. The results of the tests were entirely satisfactory.

Third Grade Tests: Our third grade pupils made a median score of 4.0 which is .2 or two months schooling above the normal score of 3.8. It is gratifying to note that our median for this year is above our last year's median score. Last year's testing showed our arithmetic to be below normal. During the past school year, a more careful check has been made on the arithmetic work with the result that our average is now above the normal.

Pupils receiving the highest average in this test were: Joan Lee Abbot, Richard Barnhart and Sallay Lee Wilson. All these pupils are from the Hartman building.

Sixth Grade Tests: The same type of tests was used in the sixth grade as in the third. We find our sixth grade pupils are making normal progress. The normal grade for the test is 6.8, or 6 years 8 months. Our pupils have a median of 6.8, or 6 years 8 months. Again, we find a marked improvement in arithmetic over last year's testing. This group of pupils scored one half a grade higher in arithmetic than did the sixth grade who took the same test last year.

The highest average scores in this test were made by Armine Paul, Hartman school and William Stedman, Circle school.

Grade Eight Tests—The pupil making the best record in these tests was Dale McCandless.

Girl Scouts Take Storms In Stride

Council Members And Leaders Guests At Annual Dinner, Program Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12 — The torrential downpours and electrical storms which swept over this district Thursday afternoon and evening failed to dampen in the least the good time being enjoyed by 146 girls now at the girl scout camp. Swimming both in the pool and outside was the happy pastime of the day.

In the evening, members of the Girl Scout Council, troop leaders and one special guest, Mrs. Lawrence Zeigler, the former camp director were guests at the camp for a special dinner and program.

Scouts arrived at the camp in couples and were announced at the door by a "butler." The weather provided names and such couples as Mr. and Mrs. I. Am Dripping, Mr. and Mrs. Puddle Jumper, the Three Driplets, Mr. and Mrs. Mosquito and son, Bite, and many other original ones, made their "formal" appearance.

Miss Janice Evans was chosen by the scouts as camp personality queen and she arrived with her attendants, Margaret McBride, Marjorie Marvel, Norma Cunningham, Helen Fitzgerald, Mary Thorpe and Alice Ann Mayberry. She was crowned by Betty Jean Smith.

Group singing followed the delicious dinner, after which "Nightingale," Mrs. Garfield Thomas, who has served as camp nurse for ten years, was presented with a scout service pin by the Council. The Council has been very fortunate in having a trained nurse serve so efficiently and so well for so many years, giving parents the knowledge that their girls are under excellent care and supervision.

Ranging from pantomines, playlets and singing skits to a puppet show, a grand program was given by each unit, and had been prepared under the dramatic instructor. The puppet show, which was very clever, was the work of the handicraft group directed by Miss Harriet Danner.

After more singing, the scouts equipped with raincoats, rubbers and flashlights wended their way over the hills to the sleeping cabins giving the spectators the knowledge that black-outs would be nothing new to these girls, who accepted the hardest storm of the year with such good sportsmanship, making it one of the happiest memories of this year's camp.

Circle School Will Be Closed

Teachers And Pupils To Be Absorbed By Other Ellwood Schools

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12.—Circle school, the second oldest school in Ellwood City, will be closed during the coming year, it was agreed by members of the Board of Education at the regular June meeting held last evening.

Circle school is located at Fountain avenue and Fourth street, in Third ward. A steady decrease in enrollment was the cause given for the closing of the school. It was pointed out that Third ward is one of the oldest residential sections of the city and the majority of the families, who own their own homes there, have raised their families.

The 145 pupils enrolled for Circle school next year will be absorbed in the Hartman and Ewing Park schools, and a few in the Lincoln building. There are six rooms in the building and six teachers, including the principal, Miss Marjorie Yoemans. The teachers will be assigned to other schools. Closing of the school will result in an annual $4500 reduction in operation expenses.

Dr. A. C. Hoenstine was elected as school doctor at a salary of $1300 annually. He succeeds Dr. Doren E. Conner, who recently entered the U. S. Navy. The resignation of Mrs. Frances Nelsen Lowry, principal of the Ewing Park school, was accepted. Mrs. Lory stated that she was going to Gary, Ind., to join her husband, who is employed there.

The 1941 tax duplicate will be returned to collector Howard Wilson with a request to make further attempts to collect about $10,000 outstanding delinquent per capita tax for the past year. The new duplicate will be submitted by the July meeting at which time the board will decide upon the collection rate to be paid the collector.

It was agreed not to object to the sale of property for the taxes to John Kingston as his bid to the commissioners covered the amount of tax owed the school district.

Total tax collections for May were: $5,371, with the greatest amounts being $2,363 for 1941 per capita and $1,035 for 1940 and prior per capita tax.

The diploma of one graduate of the recent class was withheld because a tuition bill of $30 for attending eighth grade had never been paid, and it was agreed to keep the diploma until the sum was paid.

While the Circle school is not going to be used at the present time, a contract was awarded to the Termite Control company to treat the school. The bid amounted to $281.

Half of the annual supply of coal has been received it was reported. It was agreed to have some tree surgery work done at the Lincoln building by Joe Book, Line avenue, who will also plant shrubbery at the auditorium entrances.

Two Scouts Given Golden Eaglets

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12.—The coveted Golden Eaglet award was presented to two Ellwood City Boy Scouts, Merle Schilling and William T. Roys, at a special court of honor held last evening at the Lincoln auditorium.

It was a very large court with about 40 scouts receiving many awards. The prizes for the troop winning the most awards and the troop having the most parents in attendance both went to Troop One, sponsored by the Eagles lodge with Anthony Savicky as scoutmaster.

The court was in charge of Rev. A. M. Stevenson and Rev. J. Greer Bingham assisted by council president, Boy Barrett; Lawrence Flinner and Joseph McCandless.

A board of review was announced for Monday, July 20, and an honor court for Thursday, July 23.

Many scouts and their dads are attending a camporee today and tomorrow at Camp Thompson with Harold Burry in charge.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Again we remind you that Sunday is Flag Day . . . and we also remind a few that the flags they have been displaying are a disgrace to their character. Several business houses on East Washington street must dust with the stars and stripes when they take it in each evening. Merchants look at your flag, is it presentable. There are enough places to buy flags here and they are inexpensive. No good citizen of the United States should be without the Red, White and Blue. Let's see if a good showing can't be made this Sunday . . . National Flag Day.

It sure will be nice if and when the streets of New Castle are smooth . . . Maybe if things go right this will be accomplished in the year to come. But in the meantime we people should keep our cars open and our mouth shut. Too much talk about something that few really understand might do more damage than good. If you want to know the truth about anything that is connected with the city just take time to make a visit to your councilman . . . he is there to tend the business of the city . . . and he has a job. Or if you can't find a councilman call on the City Solicitor. All these men are working for you . . . you who pay taxes and you are priveleged to ask questions and receive good answers.

There is quite a lot of talk about Victory Gardens at this time. Some are really going to town. One chap here in the office has a garden that he is willing to compare with any private garden in the county. That is some statement but here is what he claims . . . he has tomatoes just about ready to ripen and corn that is waist high. New types of celery and cabbage plant combined . . . beans of all sorts and lettuce that they have been eating for weeks. Sounds good to us . . . how is your garden growing? Keeping the weeds under control? Don't become disgusted, keep at the chore, it will pay you when next winter rolls around. All those who would like Victory Garden Certificates can secure one by asking the boy scouts in your section. Do it today.

Don't forget the classified ads that appear each day on this page . . . they will help you save money and in turn will make you extra cash. Read them and profit thereby. A little tweny word ad costs but 40 cents . . . and over 20,000 copies will be distributed each time you buy an ad. Why not try one today.

STOCKS

Stocks Dip After Steady Opening

Few 'Blue Chips' Sag From One To Two Points, Others Little

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 12.—The stock market turned downward today after a steady and quiet opening. A few blue chips lost 1 to 2 points, but changes generally were extremely small.

Activity was limited. War dispatches provided little of a price-making nature.

American Telephone ex-dividend 2¼, slumped 2½ points to 113. Allied Chemical dropped 2 points and Coca-Cola lost 2⅜ points. Westinghouse slipped 1¼.

Lesser declines were suffered by Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric, Du Pont, United Aircraft.

Standard Oil of N. J., U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Edison, Pennsylvania R. R. and American Can.

A few issues bucked the downward trend. Included were General Foods, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, American Smelting, Johns-Manville, U. S. Gypsum and Loew's.

Commodities moved narrowly.

Last Year's June High School Class Has First Reunion

Over Hundred And Fifty Are In Attendance At Gathering Thursday Night

Members of the 1941 June Class at New Castle High School gathered at the All-American Beach along Neshannock Creek for their first annual reunion, with over 150 members of the class in attendance.

Following dinner, served at 6:30 o'clock, an informal program took place, with Louis Micco as Master of Ceremonies. Miss Bernice Bartlett, class supervisor, gave a talk, and remarks were also made by those who served the class as officers during the Senior year. These included Earl Carr, president; Betty Whieldon, secretary; Tom Middleton, treasurer; and Sally Lou Fehl, general chairman of the reunion.

A tribute was paid to the boys who are now in the service of their country, 12 members of the class having already left to join the colors.

Later in the evening, roller skating and dancing were enjoyed, and plans were made for next year's gathering, but because of the uncertainty of conditions no definite arrangements were made.

The general committee was composed of Sally Lou Fehl, chairman; Genevieve Burgo, Elaine Bollard, Nancy Stitzinger, Eleanor Eckles, Leroy Snoaff, Dave Davies, Fred Thompson, Louis Micco, and Stanley Yachabach.

The decorating committee was Genevieve Burgo, Dave Davies, Fred Thompson, and Mary Jane McGinty.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 12—So Alsab couldn't be beaten, eh? He was in form and he was a shoo-in for all the rest of the three year old championship events for the rest of the year.

Oh, yeah?

That's the sentiment that swept around the New York track's during the past few weeks as the game little horse from Al Sabath's barn confounded his critics—who have been many—by running second in the Kentucky Derby; winning the Preakness stakes at Baltimore and then the Withers mile in sensational style at Belmont.

So it was only natural that the mob made "The Sab" a 2 to 5 favorite for last Saturday's Belmont stakes of a mile and a half—and, of course, by now you all know what happened. Shut Out, that famous son of a famous daddy, Equipoise, came back from a Preakness humiliation, to trouce Alsab by two lengths in a most impressive performance.

"What was the matter with Alsab?" "is Shut Out really a better horse?" "Who'll win the Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct?"; "which is the best three year old of the year to date?"

These were some of the questions heard as your roving reporter wandered around the clubhouse after the race. The mob—and that means many of the real veteran railbirds of this vicinity—had many versions for the startling upset of their favorite.

Most of them, we'll admit, seemed to agree that Shut Out was the better colt. They pointed out he had whipped Alsab in the Derby, going away, and he did the same thing, Saturday.

Only a few days ago, little Wayne Wright, who had the leg up on Shut Out in both the Derby and Preakness, told INS that Shut Out would win the Belmont and added that the colt simply did not like the track at Pimlico and wouldn't run a lick over it.

It was unfortunate that little Wayne couldn't have been aboard the colt, Saturday, but because of previous commitments Eddie Arcaro had first call and did a masterful job.

Tom Shaw, veteran handicapper and pricemaker here wasn't impressed with the race, the victor or the defeat Alsab. "we haven't seen an outstanding three year old so far this year," said Mr. Shaw. "They'll take turns beating each other all summer."

What about the Preakness and the Withers?

"Alsab was in good shape for the Preakness and ran a good race," said Tom, "but in the Withers he didn't have any competition and that's why he won it so easily. Maybe Shut Out didn't like the track at Pimlico. He certainly beat Alsab easily enough on those other two occasions though, didn't he?"

Ekky's Son Better

Mr. Shaw thinks the son of old Ekky is definitely the better colt of the two and is willing to point to the coming Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct, June 20, to prove his point. That's a mile and quarter test which will give the "Sab" a chance to even matters with Shut Out at two wins each in four starts against each other.

As the race was run Alsab and Shut Out lagged back in fifth and sixth place respectively for the first half mile. What happened half way down the backstretch seems to be slightly confused but then, and there they took the race to themselves.

As we saw it Alsab suddenly lunged up between horses to take the lead and no sooner had he done so than Arcaco cut Shut Out loose along the rail to lunge at him with a desperate challenge. Shaw claims Shut Out made the first break and Alsab went after him.

Arcaro, who was asked after the race for an explanation of his big triumph, stated simply that he had followed instructions and "moved when Alsab moved." This detail is necessary only to explain a point that was hotly debated in many post-mortem discussions of the Alsab marching and chowder society.

These disgruntled folk wanted to know why Alsab, who has always been rated, and who loves to come from behind, had to be rushed into the front of the pack by the half mile of a long grind such as Saturday's. Depending on which version you accept, you can continue arguing or go back to a peaceful slumber.

That seems like a good idea, right now, so we'll sign off with a tip: Remember the words of old Tom Shaw—his theory that the 1942 three year old crop will prove nothing more than fair, seems very, very sound.

Hold on to that rent money.
